Harry Nixon Chosen Head Of Ontario Liberal Party; Premiership Said Certain

TORONTO, May 1.—(CP)—Harry Nixon, a farmer and 23 years a member of the Ontario legislature, yesterday was chosen leader of the Liberal Party in this province. The 52-year-old Brant County farmer, first elected to the legislature as a young man of 28, won the top spot in Ontario political circles on the first ballot at the party's provincial convention.

The vote was not made public officially but it was learned from convention delegates that a total of 582 valid ballots were cast, divided as follows:

Mr. Nixon, 418; A. W. Roebuck, 89; Hon. T. B. McQuesten, 49; Walter C. Thomson, 22.

Eight ballots were rejected as spoiled.

When Mitchell Hepburn resigned as premier last Oct. 21 after eight years of virtual dictatorship in the provincial political field, Gordon Conant of Oshawa succeeded him. But Mr. Conant was not a candidate yesterday for party leadership. He had been stricken down by sudden illness on the eve of balloting.

Dress Rehearsal

The Story of Dieppe

By Quentin Reynolds

Here is the third instalment of Quentin Reynolds' latest book "Dress Rehearsal," for which The Bulletin has secured exclusive publication rights. This book by the famous war correspondent is a stirring eyewitness account of the raid on Dieppe—first air-land-sea performance in European theatre of war.—EDITOR.

Chapter II.

I had to fix it with the War Office and with my colleagues. This wasn't difficult. As long as I was an added starter who wasn't taking anyone's place, the War Office didn't mind. Now all I had to do was to wait until the next raid. Not all of the planned raids had come off. Stoneman had waited around ten or twelve days at a British port. He was with the Commandos, who were all set for a rather big raid. The weather turned bad and the raid never took place. But, according to the rota rules, Ed had had his turn so he had to go to the bottom of the list. The same happened to Ed Russell of the United Press. I hoped it wouldn't happen to me. I hadn't done a really good story all summer. I needed a good one badly. I was anxious to get home for a couple of months but it was hard to justify a request for a vacation on the basis of the trivial stories I'd been writing for Collier's. If I could get one really exciting operational story, I could, in good conscience, leave London for a while.

QUENTIN REYNOLDS

One day I phoned the Associated Press and asked for Drew Middleton. He was out of town. I asked where he was and was told that his office didn't know; he was away on some "hush-hush" assignment. His office knew that he had been sent to some British port for instructions. They had no idea what the story was. Probably Drew was taking a trip on a destroyer. I knew Drew and Larry Meier of International News Service were next at bat for a raid, so this looked as though something were brewing.

When I called the INS office and found Larry was "out of town" I felt sure that it wouldn't be long. I was

Cheering Thousands Hail United Nation's Warriors In Victory Loan Parade

Rivers of marching men and machines flowed along Jasper Avenue Friday evening. They were rivers flowing to join the rising, raging flood of United Nations' power that will sweep the debris of disintegrating Axis militarism from the face of the earth.

Approximately 3,800 men and women from the armed services of Canada, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom, joined with the dauntless veterans of the First Great War and the R.C.M.P. in what was probably the greatest military parade in Edmonton's history as a salute to Canada's Fourth Victory Loan.

Thousands of Edmontonians lined each side of Jasper avenue, along the route taken by the parade, and cheered and clapped as the fighting men marched to the stirring music of several military brass and bugle bands and one pipe band.

CROWD WINDOWS, ROOFS

Other hundreds viewed the parade from office windows of downtown blocks while additional men and women swarmed over hotel balconies, to add their cheers to that of the packed thousands lining the streets, for the marching men and women and the rumbling, mechanized engines of destruction.

And history was made in the Victory Loan parade Friday. City police estimate that more than 30,000 witnessed the parade.

Germany Claims Powerful Forces Leave Gibraltar

LONDON, May 1—(CP)—The German radio last night quoted a dispatch from Lalinea, Spain, as saying "About 150 British landing boats, strongly protected by destroyers and an aircraft carrier, passed through the Straits (of Gibraltar) in an easterly direction. Unusually lively air activity and shipping traffic has been noticed at Gibraltar for several days."

(The German broadcast as heard in New York said a convoy of 23 transports and tankers, protected by several destroyers and patrol boats, left Gibraltar Thursday.

(Soon after, it said, the British battleships Rodney, Malaya and Renown, the aircraft carriers, Furious, Illustrious and Argus, four cruisers and a flotilla of eight destroyers were seen leaving Gibraltar.)

There was no confirmation of these reports from Allied sources and it was considered possible the broadcast was another German "fishing expedition."

"Abandon Ship"

LONDON, May 1.— (CP) — Nazi sailors threw themselves overboard when British Spitfire fighters attacked a 1,000-ton German minelayer with cannon and machine-gun fire 20 miles off Ushant, the Air Ministry's news service reported last night. Major Air Fights Raging in Russia

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 1—(AP)—Major air battles continued up and down the long Russian front today with the sharpest fights above the narrow Kuban bridgehead the Germans hold in the western Caucasus.

The latest communique and dispatches told of no renewed land activity in the Kuban, but there was no reason to believe the Red army was not still driving against the foe deployed between Novorossisk and the Toman peninsula leading to the Crimea.

The incessant pounding of German communication lines was interpreted as meaning that the Russians were well aware the enemy was trying to wheel up reserves and every kind of war material for an offensive.

515,000 Men Are Asked to Resume Work

By LYLE C. WILSON

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Roosevelt today directed Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes to take immediate possession of all American coal mines where strikes are in progress or are threatened.

Mr. Roosevelt also directed Ickes to provide protection for all employees resuming work at the mines. He authorized him to request the American army to provide this protection.

Ickes, after receiving the president's order to take control of the mines, sent telegrams to 3,400 bituminous mine owners asking for their co-operation in resuming operations.

Mr. Roosevelt acted less than two hours after the passage of the 10 a.m. deadline he had set for resumption in work at the mines, now idle because of wage demands made by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

In a statement declaring "the national interest is in grave peril," the president said:

"I now call upon all miners who may have abandoned their work to return immediately to the mines and work for their government.

Yank Troops Making Gains Near Mateur

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, May 1—(AP)—American troops, continuing their stubborn advance toward Mateur, stormed and captured Djebel Tahent yesterday and wrested a neighboring high point from the Germans in a bayonet charge, Allied headquarters announced today, as Allied air forces blasted an Axis concentration of warships and vessels of all sizes in their most successful attack yet on the enemy's sea lanes.

Direct hits were scored by the airmen on at least eight ships, including a light cruiser and two destroyers which were sunk or left aflame and apparently sinking.

The Second Army Corps took Djebel Tahent, known as Hill 609, 16 miles southwest of Mateur in the Sid N'Sir area and captured Hill 523 just to the south. Their new positions permitted them to begin long-range shelling of Mateur, 18 miles southwest of Bizerte.

Asks Unconditional Surrender

Stalin Says Shattering Allied Air Blows Foreshadow Opening Of Second Front in Europe

By M. S. HANDLER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

MOSCOW, May 1.—Premier Josef Stalin, in a May Day order of the day, today rejected suggestions that Russia would accept a separate peace and proclaimed that Allied blows by land and air have changed the course of the war and "created the necessary prerequisites for victory."

He told his people that the rout of the Axis from all but a corner of Tunisia, coupled with shattering raids by "valiant" Anglo-American airmen on Italo-German military and industrial centres, "foreshadow the formation of a second front in Europe."

"Thus, for the first time since the beginning of the war," he said, "a blow at the enemy from the east dealt by the Red Army is merged with a blow from the west dealt by the troops of our allies into one joint blow.

"All these circumstances taken together have shaken the Hitlerite war machine to its foundations. . ."

ACCEPTS ALLIED VIEW

The wording of the order indicated that Stalin finally was satisfied that Britain and the United States are rapidly moving toward the opening of a second front in Europe and has accepted the Anglo-American view that the large-scale offensive in the west was hampering the Axis war effort.

His reference to the weight of Anglo-American attacks in the west made a tremendous impression on the Soviet people. It was the sort of news they had been waiting for nearly 22 months and swept away their feeling of bearing the whole burden of fighting against the Axis alone.

Stalin addressed the order to the Red Army, Red Navy, political workers, guerillas, workers and peasants and signed it "Supreme Commander in Chief, Marshal of the Soviet Union."

He said the Italo-German governments were in the midst of a "grave crisis" and faced catastrophe.

MORE BLOWS NEEDED

"Another two or three powerful blows from the West and East are needed, such as that dealt to the Hitlerite army in the past five or six months, for the catastrophe of Hitlerite Germany to become an accomplished fact," he said.

"For this reason, the peoples of the Soviet Union and their Red army, as well as our Allies and their armies, still face a stern and hard struggle for complete victory over Hitlerite fiends."

Stalin cited the repeated references in Axis propaganda to peace as evidence of the crisis in Italo-German affairs. Foreign press reports indicated, he said, that Germany would like to sign a separate peace with Britain and the United States, or with Russia.

NO PEACE POSSIBLE

"Themselves treacherous to the marrow," he said, "the German imperialists have the nerve to apply their own yardstick to the Allies, expecting some one of the Allies to swallow the bait. . . .

"But what kind of a peace can one talk with inperialist bandits from German fascist camps who have flooded Europe with blood and studded it with gallows? Is it not clear that only the utter routine of Hitlerite armies and unconditional surrender of Hitlerite Germany can bring peace to Europe?"

He called on the Red army to drive the Axis armies "incessantly out of Soviet land."

"The time is approaching when the Red army together with the armies of our Allies will break the backbone of the Fascist beast," he said. "Death to the German invader!"

Lift U.S. Barriers On Canadian Wheat

By F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, May 1—(CP)—President Roosevelt removed yesterday one of the legal barriers to a big movement of Canadian wheat into the United States to relieve feed shortages in the poultry and dairy industries in the Eastern States.

By proclamation, the president suspended quotas on imports of wheat and wheat flour from Canada and Australia which went into effect May 28, 1941. The suspension applies only to purchases by the war food administration.

Within the last two weeks, 7,250,000 bushels of Canadian feed wheat have been purchased on the Winnipeg market for transport to the United States and, eventually, 50,000,000 bushels may be bought.

Nixon Elected Liberal Chief At Convention

eventual appointment as premier as certain.

The Nixon victory, achieved by a man who entered politics as a United Farmer candidate and not as a Liberal, was regarded as bringing to a close the split in the party in Ontario which resulted from former Premier Mitchell Hepburn's opposition to the federal government in Ottawa.

When Mr. Hepburn attacked the federal administration and Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the eve of the 1940 federal election Mr. Nixon resigned from the cabinet.

His resignation was not accepted but Mr. Hepburn did not follow up his attacks on the federal government by taking an active stand against it in the election. Two years later when the King government's position was challenged in several by-elections Mr. Nixon stood with it while his leader, Mr. Hepburn, actively supported opposition candidates.

QUIT WITH HEPBURN

Mr. Nixon's resignation from the Ontario cabinet, however, came only after Mr. Hepburn resigned as premier and recommended the appointment of Gordon Conant of Oshawa as his successor.

Premier Conant was an active contestant for leadership until yesterday morning when it was announced he had been taken ill. It was learned, however, that yesterday afternoon a Nixon victory was conceded in party circles and Mr. Conant's withdrawal followed.

Ex-Premier Hepburn took no part in the convention although he was in Toronto on the first day, according to his friends. These friends said he left the city late Thursday but they were not agreed on where he went.

The convention unanimously passed resolution of appreciation of his services as leader and premier of the province and his letter of resignation, read yesterday by Chairman Harry Hamilton of Sault Ste. Marie, made no comment on the convention's proceedings.

Mr. Nixon won the leadership on the first ballot by what was officially stated to be a "substantial majority" over all other candidates together.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

While the rival candidates contested the leadership vigorously, those defeated pledged their full support to the new leader.

The convention ended with the passage of a resolution expressing regret at the illness of Premier Conant, hope for his speedy recovery and the further hope that arrangements would be made shortly for Mr. Nixon to assume the position of premier.

This was taken as an intimation that Mr. Conant should resign and recommend Mr. Nixon to the lieutenant-governor as the next premier.

As Mr. Nixon has opposed the recent extension of the term of the legislature, there was widespread belief among delegates that he will call a general election soon after he becomes premier.

The new leader operates the farm he inherited from his United Empire Loyalist forbears at St. George in Brant County. He has represented the county in the legislature since 1910 when he became provincial secretary in Ontario's first and only farmer-labor government.

JOINED OPPOSITION

After the defeat of that government he went into opposition, became leader of the progressive group after several years, and in 1934 led the remainder of Ontario's farmer political movement into the Liberal party under the leadership of Mitchell Hepburn.

In his acceptance speech Mr. Nixon promised to live up to the trust reposed in him and one day to "return to you this mantle, and, I trust, in a form that will be unsullied."

In his speech before the voting he said he objected to the way in which the premiership was passed from Mr. Hepburn to Mr. Conant and would consult with those in a position to give advice before calling an election.

The four candidates, five were nominated, but one, Charles Cox, member of the legislature for Port Arthur, promptly withdrew, were allotted 20 minutes each to speak to the convention.

NEW CONSTITUTION

Apart from the selection of a leader the convention adopted a new constitution for an Ontario Liberal Association, designed, its sponsors said, to make sure that annual meetings will be held and that there will not be repetition of the 10 years just past without a meeting of the association.

Tankers, Supply Vessels

British Subs Sink 10 More Axis Vessels, Mediterranean

By ROBERT DOWSON

LONDON, May 1.—British submarines have sunk 10 more enemy vessels in the Mediterranean, an admiralty communique said today.

The enemy vessels included two tankers, a big transport, five supply craft, an ammunition carrier and a convoy escort ship.

A big tanker, escorted by "an unusually large number of surface craft and aircraft," was intercepted near Marittimo island, off the Sicilian coast. A British submarine slipped through the heavy protective screen and torpedoed the tanker, which blew up.

A smaller tanker was sunk by gunfire off the west coast of Italy and in the same area, two small supply ships were sunk by torpedoes, the admiralty reported.

Off the east coast of Corsica, a big transport and a large supply ship were torpedoed and sunk. Near the island of Monte Cristo, between Italy and Corsica, a torpedo hit was scored on a big supply ship and an explosion followed.

"The ship, which was apparently laden with munitions and petrol, subsequently blew up," the communique said.

In the sepcial names section subscriptions have been received from the following firms: C. Woodward Ltd., $100,000; Commercial Life Assurance Co., Toronto, $160,000, and Horne-Pitfield, Calgary, on behalf of its Edmonton office, $10,000.

It was announced by Theo Bailey, Camrose district organizer, that the Army Basic Training Centre there, had achieved its $30,000 quota and was setting out to reach a $40,000 objective.

The Alberta total for the five days amounted to $10,450,350, with sales Friday totalling $2,236,150.

RESPOND WELL

Provincial civil servants are responding well to the loan appeal, reports Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, and chairman of the drive committe at the legislative building.

Mr. Low says the $150,000 objective of the government group will probably be oversubscribed. Already, the educational department, with four divisions yet to hear from, is $800 over its allotted quota, and in the treasury department, the quota has been exceeded by 200 per cent.

forced to give some ground in one area before a desperate German counter-attack, it was announced.

This slight withdrawal in the Djebel Bou Aoukaz area, 20 miles west of Tunis, came after the Germans had made three heavy counter-attacks supported by armor. The Germans also regained a few small stretches of territory from the British 8th Army in the south, but nowhere else were the Allies compelled to yield ground despite the strong character of some of the German counter-thrusts.

FRENCH ADVANCE

The French on the Americans' left pressed on in the Djebel Hazemat region 14 miles northwest of Mateur, and with American troops beat off two such German counter-attacks.

Bombers encountered enemy warships off Cap Bon yesterday. They raked the cruiser with hits forward, amidships and astern and left it a mass of smoke and flame and apparently in sinking condition.

The bombers also hit and sank a destroyer, and other planes set fire to a second destroyer which apparently sank.

The desert air force of bomb-carrying fighters "put their full effort against enemy shipping and its heavy air cover," the communique said, and at sunset the sea off Cap Bon was dotted with five burning hulks—two merchant ships, one of 1,500 tons; a motor torpedo boat, a Siebel ferry (Siebel ferry is the equivalent of a tank landing craft) and a large launch.

Coast Motorists Obtaining Extra Gas From States

VANCOUVER, May 1.—(CP)—Some Canadian motorists, sharply restricted in gasoline for pleasure driving, are getting extra supplies by visiting the United States and applying for tourist ration books from the office of administration, and returned home, visiting such border towns as Blaine and Point Roberts when they wanted to use the coupons.

vices as much as those of the members of the armed forces. I am confident that they do not wish to retard the war effort; that they are as patriotic as any other Americans; and that they will promptly answer this call to perform this essential war service."

"If any adjustment of wages is made it will be made retroactive," he added.

515,000 MEN IDLE

Of America's 450,000 soft coal miners and 80,000 anthracite miners, a total of 515,000 were idle today, according to a United Mine Workers' estimate.

President Roosevelt will broadcast at 10 p.m. Sunday night appealing to the miners to disregard Lewis and get back to work for their government.

The 10 a.m. deadline, set by the president in an ultimatum to John L. Lewis on Thursday, passed with most of America's 450,000 soft coal and 80,000 anthracite miners defiantly on strike. A United Mine Workers spokesman in New York estimated the number of strikers at 515,000.

LEWIS IS SILENT

From Alabama came reports that a "strike detail" of troops already had moved into the coal fields. War department officials, however, refused to say whether the U.S. army had received any "marching orders" from Roosevelt.

In New York, President Lewis of the mine workers, whose defiance of the War Labor Board forced Roosevelt to intervene, kept silent on the latest developments.

Informed of the press broadcast plans, he said, "no comment."

President Roosevelt's war powers are believed to be ... for seizure of the coal mines, ... was obvious that troops ... mine coal.

Dress Rehearsal

The Story of Dieppe

By Quentin Reynolds

right. On the evening of August 17th, Jock Lawrence phoned and suggested that we have dinner. We went around after dinner and I went out into the Strand with him to help find him a cab. After dark, taxis are very scarce in London. We finally found one. Jock stepped in and said casually, "I'll buy you breakfast in the morning. About ten?"

"There never was a breakfast worth getting up for that early," I told Jock. "Thanks, but I'll pass it up."

Didn't Dream Any Sweet Dreams

"No, you won't," he said, stepping into the cab. "Be at my office at ten in civilian clothes. Bring your uniform in a bag. Sweet dreams." And the taxi pulled away. I went up to my room to pack and dream sweet dreams. I packed, all right, but I didn't dream any sweet dreams.

If you operate in the war zone long enough without getting hurt, you must logically begin to believe in your good luck. A correspondent has little except his luck to use as protective armament. We are not allowed to carry guns. If we do and are captured, we forfeit the privileges our status as accredited war correspondents might give us. I had only carried a gun once since I'd been in the war zone. That was in Libya. I was with the First Royal Sussex, a good fighting British line regiment. They had stormed and captured a place called Sidi Omar, nothing but a raised hunk of sand in the desert, but a place of some strategic importance at the moment. Unfortunately, our regiment, while victorious, had moved a bit faster than the rest of the line and we found ourselves in a rather isolated position for two days, entirely surrounded by German and Italian detachments. We were shelled and dive-bombed viciously, and Colonel Desmond Young, my "conducting officer", now a prisoner of war in Italy, thought that this might be a prelude to an attack by tanks and infantry.

"This bunch will never surrender," he said thoughtfully. "It might be as well if you had a gun. It might come to our fighting our way through the lines, and the bullets that come our way won't be able to read that "War Correspondent" on your shoulder.

"Where'll I get a gun?" I asked helplessly.

"Lots of trenches around here," he said laconically. "Plenty of dead Italians and Germans in them. Hasn't been time to bury them, chum."

I found a trench that was well occupied. I found a German who had a gun hanging from his belt. I took the gun, an American-made Colt. While I was at it, I went through the German's pockets and found a pack of cigarettes. They were filthy, black, issue cigarettes, but I hadn't smoked in three days and they were better than nothing. Technically this is called looting, and is punishable by something like death. Actually we called it "reprovisioning." I hung the gun on my belt and tried to make believe it wasn't there. But I couldn't get over the feeling that it might go off any minute. When no one was looking, I "broke" the gun and emptied the cartridges into my pocket. I felt much braver then. As far as guns are concerned I am a conscientious objector. When I was eleven, I shot my kid brother Jim with an air rifle. The little lead pellet hit one half an inch above his right eye, and I had nightmares about that for twenty years. I've never fired a gun since that time; I've never held one in my hand without wincing. Anyhow, although a tank attack did materialize at Sidi Omar it was not followed by an infantry charge and I never had to use my bulletless gun.

HAD NIGHTMARES

That is the only time on any front I ever carried a gun. I'd always found my luck sufficient. But my luck didn't sing any song of security to me this night. I tossed and pitched and had nightmares and woke up sweating two or three times. I hadn't had nightmares for some time, not since the bombing of London stopped. During those horrible nights, nightmares were common occurrences with me and with many of my colleagues. The bombing, the noise of guns bothered us more when we were asleep than when we were awake.

I wouldn't mind any bombing very much if I were sitting around a table with Bill Stoneman, Helen Kirkpatrick, Bob Low, Mary Welsh, Ed Beattie, Drew Middleton or any of a dozen others who were in London during the blitz. It's when you're alone that you really mind bombing, and when you're asleep it's bad because your subconscious mind which you can control when you are awake, now takes over and raises hell with you. It was like that this night before Dieppe.

SECRETARY AMAZED

When my secretary came in at nine thirty the next morning she was amazed to find me up, dressed and packed. My "hunch" still lay heavily on me. I had none of that excited, exuberant feeling I'd had at Sidi Omar, or at Beauvais in France when things were really hot, or when I flew with the R.A.F. night fighters or crossed the Atlantic in convoy. I wondered if my luck had run out. I felt as a man does who has made three straight passes with the dice. You hesitate to really shoot the works on that fourth pass. I tried to shake this absurd feeling of impending ill fortune off, but it persisted, and finally I had to succumb to it.

"This is the time I'm going to get it," I thought, with a curious feeling of detachment. Like all men with any imagination I am superstitious. I play hunches and of course always forget the hunches that don't pan out and remember the hunches that do. Now I had a bad hunch and couldn't do anything about it. It was the first time that I'd ever had this kind of hunch.

"I'll be away for a few days," I told my secretary. "I'm going to inspect some new American airdromes. General Eisenhower is taking me around."

Her face lit up. "General Eisenhower," she breathed. "How wonderful!"

Betty Marais, who had been running my life in London for two years, just as any good secretary runs the life of her boss, was a name worshipper. When days passed without anyone of importance phoning me she would sulk and feel rather cheated. Then, if John Winant or Averell Harriman or Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas happened to phone, the sun was in the sky again and all was well with the world.

The phone rang and it was an old friend, Major Wally Giblin, of our Service of Supply. Betty took over.

"Quent is very busy," she said importantly. "He is leaving on a tour of inspection with General Eisenhower, the Commander in Chief of the American forces. Yes, General Eisenhower wants to know what he thinks of the airdromes built for the American pilots."

GRABBED THE PHONE

Before Betty could go on and invent a tale of how I had been asked to advise General Eisenhower on matters connected with the American forces, I grabbed the phone.

"Where's that case of Scotch you said you could get me?" I asked Giblin. Whiskey had become very scarce in London. You could always buy a drink, but it was almost impossible to buy a bottle. I had R.A.F. boys dropping into my place and they could get rid of plenty of Scotch. I'd been ordering the usual "large whiskey and soda" for them at about $1.10 a drink. Even the most robust expense account was no proof against such prices. Clever Wally Giblin had found a wine merchant who had some Scotch left.

He promised to go right to work on it. We chatted and, as I talked to him, my hunch came right back to hit me in the face. Suppose—just suppose—I was to get it? Who would pay my bills and wind up my affairs in London? It would be very untidy to have a lot of loose ends around.

Giblin, of course, would be the perfect man to take care of things. When we finished talking I went to the typewriter and wrote a note to him.

Giblin had been a broker in civil life. I'd known him for years. He'd know how to handle things—just in case. I wrote:

Dear Wally:

I'm off on one of those trips. I don't anticipate any trouble, but there's always that hundred to one chance of getting it. In case I do, take care of things. I have about two hundred pounds in the Chase National Bank, Bush House Branch. Pay my bills at the Savoy and tip everyone. Betty will tell you the ones. I have some royalties coming from Cassell, my publishers. Show them this letter. It will be authority for you to collect the money. Then somehow get it to Ginny in New York.

Mind you, I don't think for a moment you'll have to use this letter but it seems silly not to consider the possibility of accident. And for the love of God, Wally, get me a case of Scotch as I'm going broke feeding these Eagle boys drinks at a dollar a copy. I'll see you in a couple of days. There's a hell of a play just opened, called Flare Path. How about you and me and Russ Forgan seeing it Friday night? I'll go for the tickets if we can have dinner at your flat. And let Colonel Russ make the cocktails. Your idea of a martini seems to be one bottle of vermouth and one spoonful of gin. All the best,

Quent.

I felt rather silly writing that letter, sealing it and giving it to Betty to be delivered by hand. But I felt satisfied, too, as you do when you take out theft insurance on your automobile. You don't expect your car to be stolen, but you feel better if you're insured against the possibility. I told Betty that I'd probably be gone about three days and I probably wouldn't be able to get in touch with her.

"That's fine," she said happily. "Vince and Bill are coming on leave the next three days. I'll tell them they can stay here."

TOOK LONDON BY STORM

Vince and Bill were two young American pilots who were alienating Betty's hitherto staunch loyalty to the R.A.F. Our American pilots certainly took London by storm — especially feminine London. They behave as well on leave in London as they do in their aircraft, and you couldn't help but feel proud of them. Whenever I left town, Betty always found two or three pilots to occupy my suite. All of the American correspondents did the same thing. Hotel rooms in London are expensive and a pilot's pay doesn't quite run to them.

"I'm going to take them to Bea Lillie's show," Betty went on, "and then to the Nut House. We can sign your name there."

"I suppose you signed my name for the theatre tickets too."

"Oh, no," Betty said sweetly. "I phoned Ben and said you wanted three tickets for yourself, so we got them free."

Krupp Works Target of Big R.A.F. Planes

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, May 1.—British four-engined bombers pounded the Ruhr valley, main arsenal for Hitler's armies, with upwards of 900 tons of bombs last night, concentrating on the Krupp arms works at Essen.

The air ministry described the attack as "heavy" and said 13 bombers were lost. Weather conditions were bad.

Taking over the offensive in daylight, several squadrons of bombers swept across the English south coast this morning and headed toward the Cherbourg peninsula.

55th RAID ON CITY

Thousands of bombs, including two-ton blockbusters, were showered over the sprawling Krupp works and other targets vital to the Axis war effort. Much of the Krupp works already were in ruins from previous raids and last night's assault undoubtedly interrupted frantic repair work.

It was the 55th raid of the war on Essen, which last was attacked April 3 with 900 tons of bombs.

A German broadcast said that British bombers damaged buildings and caused civilian casualties in Western Germany last night. The Germans claimed to have shot down only five bombers, however, and it was possible that the other losses were due to the weather.

Dear ________

Edmonton's parks and gardens are taking on a much better appearance these days as workmen and residents continue with the annual spring clean-up. Lawns are now quite green, and trees and shrubs are beginning to bud out. Downtown store windows are gay with saucy spring hats and the sort of dresses and suits that will be walking alongside men in uniform on Sunday afternoons.

But you'll be wanting to know what has been going on here during the past week, so let's look it over.

April 26

"We have only reached the 'end of the beginning,' our greatest battles are still in the future. The fortress of Europe, a great continent ribbed and ringed with concrete and steel, manned by millions of battle-trained veterans, ruled by desperate men who will stop at nothing to gain their ends, has to be cracked," Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Dominion minister of finance, told a joint luncheon meeting of the National War Finance Committee and the Edmonton Kiwanis Club in the Macdonald hotel Monday at noon. Mr. Ilsley was in the city to open officially the Fourth Victory Loan drive.

A tremendous future was visualized for Edmonton by Dr. Ruth Gruber, field representative of the United States department of the interior, when she spoke at a private meeting in the Provincial Legislative buildings Sunday evening. Dr. Gruber, who has been travelling in Alaska and northern Asia since 1935, is the first woman to have made the passage from the Pacific to Murmansk, Russia, along the north coast of Siberia.

Considerably more than one million dollars will accrue to the city during the 12 months of 1943 if the present rate of payments to the treasury in taxes and profits from the city-owned utilities is maintained during the balance of the year, it is revealed in the balance sheet of the utilities up to March 31, 1943. In addition, the amount set aside for renewal reserves this year will exceed by a wide margin the million dollar mark if the reserve account is credited at the same level as during the first three months of the year. Gross earnings of city utilities during the period Jan. 1 to March 31 amounted to $1,611,617.34, compared with $1,471,403.85 for the same period last year. This is an increase of $140,213.49.

For the first time in history, men of Australia's fighting forces celebrated Anzac Day in Edmonton Sunday, when a squadron of blue-clad airmen from No. 2 Air Observers' School and No. 3 "M" Depot, paid tribute to their gallant comrades of the First Great War, who fell at Gallipoli and other sanguinary struggles of the Dardanelles campaign. Accompanied by New Zealand airmen, the Anzac paraded to the Cenotaph, where a wreath was laid in honor of their countrymen who fell in the last war.

In observance of Easter Sunday thousands of Edmonton residents thronged to city churches of all denominations, which were filled to capacity. Special services marked the day, while Easter music, comprising magnificent choral cantatas, was presented in many churches with capacity augmented choirs.

Victoria Army prolonged the Allan Cup final series at Calgary Saturday night by defeating Ottawa Army Commandos 4-3 in overtime. The best-of-five series now stands two games to one for Ottawa. In the junior Memorial Cup series at Toronto, Winnipeg's free-wheeling Rangers surged from behind to suppress Oshawa Generals 7-4 and square the series at two games apiece.

April 27

Edmonton and Northern Alberta's Fourth Victory Loan campaign got away to a flying start Monday with the city selling $328,700 of bonds, and the rural areas $144,500, to give a total for Northern Alberta of $473,200, it was announced by loan officials.

Edmonton's curfew by-law is to be streamlined to meet modern conditions. City council Monday night accepted a notice of motion from Ald. Sidney Parsons that the by-law be reviewed by the by-laws committee to determine necessary amendments to conform with present-day conditions. Farmers near Edmonton received help with their spring threshing from 87 men over the week-end. The men were placed through the department of agriculture.

Edmonton's airport is probably the busiest place in Canada at the present time. More proof that this is the case is supplied through installation of a stop-and-go traffic light at the entrance to No. 2 Air Observers' School at Kingsway and 116 street. Expressing himself as highly pleased at his new command, Wing Commander E. G. Macpherson arrived Monday from Regina and has taken over command of No. 4 R.C.A.F. Initial Training School here.

Recommendation of city commissioners that no action be taken to provide summer uniforms for members of Edmonton's police force until after the war, was rejected by members of city council last night. City commissioners were instructed to bring in a report of the possibility of obtaining summer weight uniform cloth, shirts and other accessories to enable policemen to be clothed properly for the hot weather.

Winnipeg Rangers took the lead in the best-of-seven series for the Memorial Cup and the junior hockey title of the Dominion by defeating Oshawa Generals 7-3 at Toronto last night. A crowd of 12,420 cheered the westerners, who now lead the series three games to two.

April 28

With residents of Northern Alberta district points subscribing more than double the amount invested in the first two days of the Victory Loan, the total sales in the northern part of the province had climbed to $913,100 at the close of business on the second day of the Fourth Loan on Tuesday. Of this amount $296,85[illegible] had been subscribed by district residents, and $616,250 by Edmontonians. Total sales for the province as tabulated Tuesday night amounted to [illegible].

Charges that the Edmonton School Board is taking a most "niggardly attitude" in the matter of teachers' pensions were made by teacher representatives at a meeting of the Board Tuesday night. Discussion of the pension plan arose when a report, providing for the payment of retirement pensions in a flat sum, was submitted for approval by the finance committee.

Soldiers in the Canadian Army are now to be encouraged to make suggestions for improvements in equipment and administrative methods, and also submit new inventions, national defence headquarters at Ottawa announced today.

The high-powered Ottawa Army Commandos defeated Victoria Army 2-0 Tuesday night at Calgary to win the historic Allan Cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior amateur championship of Canada. It was their third victory in four games. Commandos copped the first and second games 4-3 and 6-4, respectively, while Victoria's lone success was a hard-won 4-3 decision in overtime in the third game Saturday.

April 29

Between $150,000 and $200,000 a year is the estimated cost of the upward revision of provincial government employees' salaries, it was learned on Thursday. Orders-in-council are expected to be passed soon, covering salaries in the various departments of the government.

Sales of Fourth Victory Loan bonds at the close of the third day of business amounted to $1,442,[illegible] in Northern Alberta out of a quota of $12,[illegible] set for the northern section of the province. Total sales for the province during the three days was $5,240,350. Edmonton's total at the close of Wednesday was $943,000.

Realization of the building of [illegible] houses in Edmonton by Wartime Housing Limited, appeared closer with the receipt today by Mayor Fry of a communication setting out the locations on which these houses will be built if an order to proceed with the project is given by the Dominion Treasury Board. The sites selected are located in the Norwood and Hudson's Bay Reserve districts. In Norwood it is proposed to erect 2[illegible] of the [illegible] homes, with 37 being placed on land in the other area.

Expressing appreciation with recent provincial legislation which raised minimum salaries of Alberta teachers from $840 to $900 a year, the Alberta Teachers' Association in convention Wednesday adopted a resolution calling for Dominion aid to make an even higher minimum possible.

Winnipeg Rangers brought the Memorial Cup to the west when they whipped Oshawa Generals 6-3 at Toronto Wednesday in the sixth and deciding game of the Dominion junior play-offs. The Winnipeggers won four games to [illegible] for the Generals.

April 30

Field mice have severely damaged grain standing in stooks throughout the west, agriculture department officials stated today. In some instances, the damage has ranged as high as 30 per cent, with oats suffering the greatest loss. A city constable who responded to a call to a Jasper avenue fish and chip shop Friday morning allegedly was assaulted by a 17-year-old boy who then darted away, only to be captured by the officer and taken to the police station, where he was found to have possession of a liquor permit. The call was received by police after the boy attempted to force open the front door of the shop after it had been closed for the night.

First of a series of free movies for servicemen and servicewomen on Sundays in Edmonton, will be put on in the Capitol theatre this coming Sunday, May 2, with shows starting at 2 and 4 p.m.

Subscription of $1,500,000 was received by the Edmonton Victory Loan committee from the provincial government, it was announced today. The Northern Alberta sales had increased to $3,574,[illegible] at the close of business Thursday, the fourth day of the campaign. This is 28.[illegible] per cent. of the $12,769,000 quota for the district. Total sales for Alberta in the four days was $[illegible] out of a $37,000,000 quota. Edmonton's total as at Thursday night was $3,010,850 or 34.2 per cent. of its quota.

May 1

The whole city is talking today about the grand Victory Loan parade through city streets last night. It was a splendid display, not only on its own account for the brilliance of the event, but as a show of Allied solidarity and might. For the first time here, United States troops marched through the streets with arms, and as befitted a great and gallant ally, received a place of honor. Then there were Canadian forces, navy, army and air, men from Australia and New Zealand, and about 30,000 enthusiastic Edmontonians cheering them on. It was a great sight.

It rained this morning, but the rain brought with it warmer weather. The thermometer registered 10 degrees milder than yesterday, and so maybe summer is really here.

Wage finding of the Regional National War Labor Board on the application of members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union No. 289 was unanimously accepted by union members at a mass meeting last evening. The finding of the Board was issued Friday afternoon. Under the terms of the Board order the following rates of pay are set out for the different classifications in the industry: Clerks, $25 to $3[illegible] weekly; porters, $[illegible]; bell boys, $18 weekly; elevator operators, $20 weekly; chambermaids, $[illegible] weekly, and housekeepers, $22.50 weekly. The rates set by the Board are stated to be substantially higher in certain of the classifications than had formerly prevailed.

That's about all for now. [illegible] again next week. Good luck.

The New Ontario Leader

The selection of Mr. Harry C. Nixon as leader of the Ontario Liberals was rather a foregone conclusion when ill-health forced Premier Conant out of the running. It was probable even before that happened. Mr. Nixon is a farmer, and in the prime of life. He is very popular among the farmers of the province, and is equally respected among townsfolk for his ability and straight-forwardness. He is progressive, active and enjoys public confidence alike because of his character, bearing, and administrative record.

A provincial general election will necessarily be held soon, perhaps the sooner the better, for that is the one way to restore order in the political confusion. It seems likely that in choosing Mr. Nixon as their leader the delegates also chose a man who will lead the party to victory at the polls.

More Buyers This Time

One highly satisfactory feature is that subscriptions to the Fourth Victory Loan are maintaining a very substantial lead in numbers over the subscriptions to the Third Loan. Altogether there were 2,041,000 purchasers of bonds last fall. The objective is 3,000,000 purchasers of Fourth Loan bonds. The lead at present does not assure that this gain of one-third will be attained, but it is large and is growing as the days pass.

Early buyers usually include many people who make bond-buying a consistent practice and send in their applications as a matter of course as soon as a campaign starts. First-time buyers normally come along in greater numbers as the canvassers cover their beats. That the 3,000,000 mark will be reached is therefore probable.

On every consideration it is desirable that this many, or more, individuals become bond-holders—the more the better. The more who buy the more will have a measure of security against future need. And the more widely the bonds are distributed the less will money power be concentrated in the control of a wealthy few and of great corporations.

Production Must Go On

The "row" between Mr. John L. Lewis and President Roosevelt—naming the parties in order of responsibility for the situation—is none of the business of Canadians, save sympathetically and in indirect ways. The ultimatum of the President called for a showdown between the miners and the Government. What is to follow must await the event.

Canadians are interested, and legitimately so, because there have been and now are strikes in this country also which occurred in defiance of law. Whatever measures are found necessary to deal with such a situation in the United States must have some influence on the future procedure of Canadian authorities in comparable circumstances. Uninterrupted production of vital commodities is as important to us as to our neighbors.

Thus far in both countries a resolute attempt has been made to interfere as little as necessary with the peace time freedom of civilians. But in both the tendency has been toward curbing that freedom as events have shown this to be necessary for the prosecution of the war and the well-being of the nation. How far the curbing will have to go is the question that emerges from the growing frequency of industrial tie-ups during the past year.

Still They Come

If priority officials at Ottawa, or at Washington, had any notion that more houses were not badly needed in Edmonton or that more priorities were asked for than were actually required, they must be free of the misconception by this time.

Hundreds of applications from private parties have been forwarded to these authorities, and a flood of requests for building permits is still pouring into the city hall—to be also forwarded in due course. In both capitals somebody must be kept busy jotting down the records of these applications as they come along and passing them on for final decision.

That Wartime Housing has selected sites for the 250 houses it is to build here warrants hope that the building operations will get under way soon. And hope also that the priorities sought by private parties will get early and favorable attention. Announcement that this Government agency will put up that number of houses did nothing to check the rush for building permits and priorities by individuals. Quite the contrary.

This is first-hand testimony from people who know, that the Wartime Housing program will not meet Edmonton's housing requirements. If such had been supposed, at Ottawa or at Washington, the continuing rush of applications must carry conviction that the supposition was wrong. People do not seek permission to spend their own money building houses they don't need and doubt that they could sell or rent.

The Russians Struck First

The Russians may have beaten the Nazis to the draw. Berlin admits that the Red army has opened a "large scale" offensive in the Kuban area, where Moscow claims 116 German planes were shot down in a single day for 45 Russian planes lost.

The fighting is taking place mainly in the area at the mouth of the Kuban river, which empties into the Black Sea a few miles north of Novorossisk. The Axis forces have clung to this territory since their drive of last summer. It is a bridgehead guarding the Kerch Strait, the short water-jump from the Crimea. Hitler's third summer offensive has been expected to open with a thrust across the Straits, co-ordinated with a drive to recover Rostov to the north.

The prize at stake of course is the Caucasus oil, for which the Fuehrer sacrificed countless German lives last summer in vain. The Kuban-Rostov district is the gateway to the oil fields, the nearest of which—Maikop—is more than a hundred miles to the east. This field was captured by the enemy last year, though it can have done them little good and they lost it in the Russian winter offensive. The more productive fields lie hundreds of miles farther to the southeast.

Both sides have been building up forces through the winter to renew the struggle for this prize on a scale vaster than that of last summer. The news from Moscow and Berlin seems to mean that the Russians have got in the first blow, with a view to "liquidating" the Axis forces holding the Kuban brideghead and Novorossisk. If they can accomplish that, the Nazis will be militarily as far from the Caucasus wells as they were a year ago—and they need the oil now worse than they did then.

People in the modern world live by producing and trading. They cannot have any acceptable standard of living without doing both. War conditions have expanded the producing capacity of Canada out of recognition, particularly its capacity for industrial production. In post-war times we shall therefore need to trade on a broader scale than in the past. It is encouraging to learn from Hon. J. A. MacKinnon that he foresees a tremendous export from the Dominion to China and the Latin American countries. And equally encouraging to know that we have a Minister of trade and commerce who is alive to the coming need and busies himself hunting up export markets.

Unwise Growth

Editor, Bulletin: More and more, these days one hears the growing fear discussed that Edmonton's growth is going ahead with more haste than discretion.

What has happened to our dream of making Kingsway a lovely boulevard; flanked by tall rows of native evergreen and mountain ash—a pride and joy for years to come? How many eyesores are now slated for erection along this historic street? With so many wide-open spaces available on the outskirts, are we not to have a city centre beautiful after all?

We who love Edmonton as our own and must continue to pay the taxes for its upkeep feel we are justified in asking that some measure of town planning be put into effect whereby this city may continue to be a good place to live in.

The Edmonton Bulletin has pioneered its way into the hearts of Edmonton citizens.

Can't you do something about it?

Sunday Observance

Editor, Bulletin: Thoughtful men and women must admit that the good Canadian way of Sunday observance has had its part in the building of strength into the character of our people and in the goodness and the soundness of our institutions.

Therefore, we believe that the step to keep open theatres on Sunday the same as on other days has been taken without due consideration of the "better way" and in open disregard for the teachings of Christian parents in Canada.

While we agree that our theatres may open on Sunday with good concerts or lectures, and other centres, offering recreation in the form of sports and social contacts, we do not believe that our Canadian youth altogether welcome the proposed change in Sunday observance.

We have yet to be convinced that our boys and girls in uniform are the kind to find themselves at a loss for wholesome recreation just because the theatres do not present the current picture show on Sunday! Is it expedient to change our long-cherished way of Sunday observance?

Drinking

Editor, Bulletin: Please give me a little space to answer Mr. Ashby's letter in a recent issue of your paper, where he lambastes those who are opposed to the drinking of alcoholic beverages. He says in giving up our right to drink we give up our God-given right to do as we please.

I believe the Bible says that God told Adam and Eve that of the fruit of a certain tree in the Garden of Eden they should not eat, but they did. They were free people and could do as they pleased with the life God gave them. Later on God gave us the Ten Commandments to show us we were under the law and not individually free to do as we pleased with the life God gave us.

God never made any fermented things for his creation to eat or drink. Of all the fruits God made none are fermented till they start to decay, and of all the natural drinks of all the various springs, lakes, rivers, mineral of all kinds, but none are intoxicating.

If we are ever going to sit in peace and safety under our own vine and fig tree we must be law abiding people. Beer drinking Germany and wine drinking Italy are samples of what intoxicants can do for our peace and freedom from fear, and are we not fighting today because some one was sure they were giving up their liberties when they were law-abiding nations.

Mr. Ashby says taken in moderation it hurts no one. Ask any young man what his reactions were to the first little drink and nine out of ten could truthfully say it was a sensation of shamed elation that he had dared to break a moral law and henceforth could be a man among men choosing good or evil.

Of course he resolved he would be one who could drink and show the world he was no weakling. But from that first drink his respect for law was weakened. So even moderate drinking does harm.

Alcohol

Editor, Bulletin: Being one of those whom Mr. Ashby might call "an extremist," I wish to reply to only one part of his rather strange plea for "freedom."

He says "Christ suffered from this tyranny. (I presume he means 'of extremists'). He drank wine at the Last Supper. These extremists would not have stood for that."

It may be Mr. Ashby does not know that no form of fermentation was permissible in a Jewish home during Passover Week.

Our Lord was a Jew—is it likely that He used fermented wine at His parting feast, thereby breaking the law of His people?

Further, we have no record that He "drank" the wine, though probably He may have done so, but "after supper He took the cup, and when He had given thanks, He gave it to them, and they all drank of it." (Mark 14:23).

We "extremists" have no quarrel with any beverage, providing it does not contain the substance recognized as a "narcotic drug," namely alcohol.

Closed Shop

Editor, Bulletin: Having read Ontario's new compulsory bargaining act, we wish to point out certain serious weaknesses in this piece of legislation which will affect directly employers and employees in Ontario and indirectly, every citizen of the Dominion.

This act enforces compulsory bargaining between employer and employee. Following upon compulsory bargaining in any given plant or industry we may be sure the closed shop will be attempted, especially wherever the C.I.O. is the bargaining agent. In fact, virtually all the strikes that have taken place in Canada recently have been engineered by the C.C. of L. (C.I.O.) not primarily to establish wages and working conditions, but to obtain union recognition and, ultimately, the closed shop and the check-off.

The closed shop is a vicious, undemocratic practice, and is the negation of individual liberty and freedom. Ontario's new bill destroys freedom of association and, in its present form, it hogties the worker and leaves him at the mercy of union leadership. This act, as now constituted, denies the worker his birthright under democracy and imposes a brand of fascism on him.

If not amended, the act will work havoc on the system of free enterprise. To give but one instance, it will place at each others' throats thousands of employers and employees, who have heretofore amicably carried on mutually satisfactory relationships through plant councils or associations, now that act outlaws this type of employee organization.

O. EDGERTON.

A small-part actor used to haunt his agent's office saying: "Anythin doin' for me today, Ted?" and Ted would answer: "Sorry, Charlie, nothin' doin'."

As the weeks went by words became superfluous. Charlie would look in, lift his eyebrows inquiringly, and Ted would shake his head.

This went on for years. Then one day Charlie broke silence. He strode in saying: "Oh, by the way, Ted, don't book me for any job during the next fortnight. I've decided to take a holiday."

British Women and Gardening

Not Merely Wartime Job Nor Hobby But Useful Career

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

There are more and more tasks waiting for women, and now new professions are opening their gates to them, Canadians will perhaps be interested to hear what Englishwomen are doing in horticulture, a field in which Canadians women have not been particularly active so far.

In Britain horticulture, which in everyday language means just plain gardening, is not merely a wartime occupation for women nor a hobby. For more than fifty years Swanley and Studley, the two big horticulture colleges—and many others besides—have turned out more than 100 women graduates annually.

These women have spent three to four years studying all aspects of fruit, flower and vegetable culture and hothouse work. They have proved to be man's equal in plain, practical gardening. Plowing and tractor driving and felling trees are among their duties—and they like it.

But is there a career for women in this line? Well, let us look at the ambitions and achievements of those who have studied the profession.

Decorative Arts

First, there are the decorative arts—floristry and lanscape gardening, in which women are sometimes even given preference over men. No need to say more about that, because girls in this type of work are nothing unusual in Canada. Neither are female research workers in the agricultural laboratories and research stations, or a woman librarian or editor of a gardening paper. But what about a woman as head gardener of a park, who has to deal with men, to work with them and to share with them all the hardships of a laborious job?

In England even the government employs women experts in horticulture. She is country adviser and is in charge of horticulture in a certain district. She makes the rounds by car to advise growers and private garden owners. During wartime she has to encourage co-operation between growers (for instance, a common delivery of goods) so as to save gas, tires and manpower. Briefly, she has to organize gardening on a rational basis. No true garden or tree nursery is too big to take advice on what needs to be grown or how it can be grown best. And no victory garden is so small that its surplus goods cannot be sold in producers' co-operatives if the owner happens to be absent for some weeks. All these problems have to be solved by the country adviser.

Truck Gareners

Many college women started their own intensive truck gardens and have made a living at the job. It is true that coditions in England are different fom ours in Edmonton. With three or five acres of good land, every inch of which is cultivated and cropped sometimes twice and three times a year, it is possible to make a living in England.

In Britain, specially during the war, when early crops from France, Belgium and Holland cannot be obtained, greenhouses, hotbeds and cold frames are crammed as well as hundreds of glass cloches (little tent or roof-shaped contraptions which protect tender plants and which can be moved to where they are most needed.)

School Projects

School gardening is another profession frequently taken up by women. Most schools have their own vegetable ground and have regular classes in gardening. Training children to help on farms, organizing young farm workers, living with them or visiting them regularly to look after their physical and mental well-being, make up some of the favorite jobs of women in Britain.

Last, but not least, the girls of the Women's Land Army, who come from many different walks of life from actresses to typists and beauticians, do all sorts of jobs, from directing farms and truck gardens to strenuous gang work in fields and nurseries.

Recently, our Canadian women have been training more extensively in horticulture and farm work. There are now far more opportunities open to them than formerly and steady employment is more certain than ever before.

Women interested in this profession must, however, choose the branch most suited to them as individuals. Farm laborers have far more difficult duties to perform than laboratory technicians or garden consultants.

For the women who consider the profession seriously, horticulture and farming may well prove to be as important a career after the war as now.

Will It Bust the Country?

By STEPHEN LEACOCK

Got rather bad jolt about the Loan yesterday evening. I was afraid I should have to wire to Mr Ilsley to have it called off. The reason was that I learned, on what seemed the best authority, that if we didn't call it off it would bust the country.

Yes,—that's what the old feller said, in my hearing, in the barber's chair right here in Mariposa,—"bust the country." I was sitting there in the barber shop waiting my turn,—or, well, I won't say "waiting my turn" but waiting till I had, in fairness, to accept my turn. You see, here in Mariposa its not like in the City. The barber shop,—I always go to Jeff's,—is a comfortable place to sit in with as good conversation and as much information as you get in any first class club. So each one likes to sit as long as he can till Jeff nominates him to a chair. When he says, "You're next," you have to take your place. You've read about the guillotine.

Anyway, the other evening there was on old feler there getting his hair cut,—or so I won't say "cut,"—call it "distributed." He was pretty near bald, with a little straggling white hair and it's wonderful what a barber can do to spread it out and stand it, and make the most of it.

So he was talking.

"It'll bust the country," he said. "You can't take a total of four or five billion dollars out of this country without busting it."

The old feller developed his argument and the "boys" sat and listened and the two barbers, at the other chairs quit shaving and leaned over their customers' faces and whispered "get this."

"Five billion dollars among ten million people is five hundred dollars each. And have they got it? Has the average man got five hundred dollars? How old do you think the average man in this country is?—and, mind you, for this you must count every man, woman and child,—he's fifteen years old! Has a boy of fifteen got five hundred dollars? No. Well, that means it'll break the country."

The barber let him out of the chair. I watched him closely, because you can't really tell what a man is like till he gets out from under the towels and dusters.

But the old feller looked all right,—neat, well-dressed in a light grey suit,—quite a dossy old feller and pink as a Peterborough ham.

He went out.

Then the talk broke and I heard the verdict and I knew it was all right. "You don't know him?" They said, "Yes, you must. That's old Oliver Croke, the retired lawyer,—Pshaw! he's had the country bust about twenty times already. He had it bust over the women's vote and the Trent Valley Canal, and the Income Tax and the Algoma Central Railway! Why, of course, old Oliver would say the Loan will break us. What else would you expect?"

One of the Mariposa bank managers who was being shaved in one of the chairs, rolled over sideways in his soap-suds and said.

"I'll tell you more, boys, though of course it's confidential and I wouldn't want it to go outside of this barber shop. The old feller's all right. He came into the bank today and took up ten thousand dollars of the Loan." . . .

So its' all right. Mr. Ilsley.

Spanish War Veteran Is Relegated to Background in Army

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Here are more illustrations of how the brasshats in the U.S. Army are treating American boys who went to fight for a Republican government in Spain against Dictator Franco and his supporters, Mussolini and Hitler.

The German and Italian armies used the Spanish civil war as a testing ground for modern warfare; but the U.S. army has relegated Americans who fought in Spain largely to work battalions.

Drew Pearson

Milton Wolff was a major in command of a battalion of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade in the Ebro offensive. Later he enlisted in the U.S. Army, was sent to officers' training camp at Ft. Benning, Ga. There Regimental Commander Col. Thomas R. Gibson treated Wolff cordially and a story of his Spanish experiences was written up in the camp news paper. His qualifications were rated "excellent." He qualified on map reading, compass work, night problems.

"Then," says Wolff, "suddenly the axe fell. It was certainly not routine procedure for flunking men out. I was supposed to see a regimental board, which is routine; but after hanging around all day, I was called in to see a colonel. He asked me about Spain, the labor movement, Brockwood School — straight stuff. I gave him straight answers.

"Knowing something was funny I went in to see my company commander and asked him what the score was. He said he didn't know. Subsequently my battalion commander, regimental commander, and the infantry school commander told me the same thing.

"This was about a week and a half before graduation. The last of the men to be flunked out had already left. I completed the course, which ended four days before graduation. The last few days are used for signing final forms, uniforms, graduation rehearsals.

"Then I knew something phoney was going to happen. I signed none of the final forms. Again I went up the chain of command and got the same replies. They didn't know.

"Finally I was shipped to Ft. McClellan, Ala., and was assigned to the Medics (Medical Corps). I will probably be here for the duration, despite the fact that war department order says that only 1B men would fill these services."

Meanwhile, war and navy departments desk jobs in Washington are crowded with blue-bloods from the social register who never saw a rifle, but had no trouble getting cellophane commissions—you can see through them but they protect from the draft.

Pup

Here is one of Mrs. Roosevelt's stories which she tells on herself.

In London it is customary for the English police to give a "code" name or pseudonym to every distinguished visitor which can be used by radio police cars, without the Nazis picking up the name from the ether waves and knowing who is in London.

So when Mrs. Roosevelt arrived, Scotland Yard suggested that she adopt a code name, since her presence in London was still a secret. With typical Rooseveltian humor she chose the code name "Rover."

One of the first things Mrs. Roosevelt wanted was to visit her son Elliott. So she started to his office in an Army car, equipped with a two-way radio. While driving there, the car's radio informed the First Lady that Elliott, not knowing of her arrival, had left his office.

Mrs. Roosevelt didn't know where to find him. Finally she suggested that a message be broadcast by radio from the car that she was looking for Elliott. However, to use the name "Elliott Roosevelt" on the radio would immediately tip off the Nazis regarding his whereabouts, would also give a hint that she was in London.

So Mrs. Roosevelt proposed a code message.

"Let's broadcast this," she said. "'Rover has lost her pup'."

Silver

Secretary Morgenthau gave no encouragement to the silver bloc in discussing her post-war plan for stabilizing world currency through a five billion dollar stabilization fund.

When discussing this world stabilization plan with members of the House Foreign Affairs and Coinage committees, Morgenthau was asked:

"Have you given any consideration to using silver as a partial reserve for the five billion dollar fund?"

"We have given silver all the consideration it is entitled to," replied the Secretary of the Treasury with crisp emphasis. "However, we decided against it for reasons too generally known to be repeated here. Silver is a subsidiary metal and it would greatly complicate our plans to use it in addition to gold."

Red-Baiters

Alexis Leger, one-time Liberal French Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, now a refugee in Washington, has been lecturing U. S. diplomats regarding the menace of Russia after the war.

At a recent dinner, Leger gave such a forceful warning that Russia would dominate Europe after the war, that one red-worried U.S. diplomat went back to the state department and wrote an inter-office memo, to his colleagues cautioning against an overwhelming Russian victory.

Author of these sermons which tend to divide the United States from one of its chief allies is on Uncle Sam's payroll. Leger was given a job in the Library of Congress shortly after he fled here from France.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

WHEN entries closed Saturday for the eighth annual Edmonton and District Music Festival, to be held during the week of May 24, indications were that the competitions would be as closely contested as in previous years, and that the number of aspiring artists vieing for top honors in the various classes would approximate even peak aggregates of the past. H. G. Turner, the omnipresent Festival secretary-treasurer, stated that the lists had been kept open throughout the last week in order to permit intending competitors to file their entries. Originally it had been intended that April 24 would be the cut-off date. But with the Easter holidays interrupting the regular school and studio classes, it was felt that extension of the period was desirable. Thus, those who turned in their forms since April 24, and until today, will be among the eligible.

Howard Stutchbury, one of the founders of the Alberta Music Festival—the first of its kind in the Dominion—is president of the committee in charge of the district event. Mrs. T. Winslow Hamilton is vice-president, and in addition to Mr. Turner, the executive committee comprises Mrs. David Bowman, Mrs. Sybil Holtsman, the Rev. Father Leo Green, Ralph R. Couper and J. Norman Eagleson. The adjudicator will be Arthur Benjamin, distinguished British pianist, teacher, conductor and composer, who is no stranger here. The events are many and varied, ranging from those open to primary grade students, to large choir and orchestral groups. Special awards are allocated to certain classes. The choral speech end of the Festival is being emphasized, while there will be a touch of the drama introduced in that there will be competitions for stage presentations.

The suggestion advanced by Mrs. Ernest Meaden at the annual meeting of the Women's Musical Club, that in the post-war era, all interested city organizations pool their efforts and resources to construct a concert hall seating 2,000 persons, already has met with a wide measure of at least vocal support. That there is merit in the suggestion none will deny. Whether it will be feasible or practicable, will depend on circumstances.

Visiting Artist

John Burr, United States bass, who will appear in joint recital with Henry Atack, pianist and organist, at First Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening.

There are many considerations in such a project. First there must be found a location, the building designed, and the money found. Let it be granted that the Empire theatre will be restored to its original use after the war, and will be available for concerts and theatrical productions. Then one must consider whether, with it available, such a concert hall would be necessary. There would be considered the question of whether a new hall could, or would be used sufficiently often to justify the investment, and whether it could meet operating costs and pay interest on its capital expenditure.

The auditorium would have to be specially designed for concert work with the most careful consideration given to its acoustical properties. The seats would have to be fixed. One of the major drawbacks with most halls now available for casual concerts, is that the seats are not fixed, and therefore are noisy. Floors and doors would have to be given meticulous attention. These are a few matters that must be considered. A large and comfortable auditorium for concerts is something for which musical and other interested organizations may strive unremittingly and with the knowledge that they will have the strong support of music lovers. This city could make good use of such a place, and it is to be hoped that with anticipated cultural and commercial expansion, the implementation of Mrs. Meaden's suggestion will not have to wait very long after the unconditional capitulation of the tripartite Axis partnership.

Appointment of John Barbirolli as conductor of the Halle Orchestra of Manchester, England, the second oldest orchestra in Great Britain, is additional proof that coming events do cast their shadows ahead. During the last week I was running hurriedly through some old copies of magazines, and came upon a copy of Musical America dated Feb. 10, 1930. My attention was directed to an article entitled "An Englishman Who Conducts Opera at 29." The writer was D. C. Parker, one of Britain's most distinguished writers on music, and one of Bizet's biographers.

Just one or two quotations will show that Mr. Parker's forecasts and pronouncements merit attention. He wrote that "I have been too long in musical journalism to make prophecies. But if I did wish to foretell the future of a young musician whom I thought tolerably safe for higher things, I should name John Barbirolli. . . . I should not be surprised if he went straight to the top of his profession. Already he has achieved much and done things which a much older musician might well be proud of having accomplished."

Mr. Parker then traced some of the highlights of his subject's career and later wrote, "I have not come across any young musician more prepared to live laborious days in order to satisfy his own conscience and attain his artistic ends. . . . Keep an eye upon this industrious and talented musician. If I am not mistaken, Fate has reserved for him a high place in the musical hierarchy."

That was early in 1930. In 1935 Mr. Barbirolli was one of five conductors invited to conduct the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra with a view to obtaining a permanent appointment. He was second on the list, and was engaged as permanent conductor even before the other three were heard. He headed that orchestra, the world's best, for five years. As leader of that august orchestra, which has made New York the "graveyard" for conductors, he followed Toscanini, and in such a position, as one writer put it, most conductors would have done one of two things, either jumped off the Brooklyn bridge, or made a perfect fool of himself. Barbirolli did neither. He made a great success of himself.

The men in the orchestra extended themselves for him. He had his detractors and his road through the "graveyard" of conductors was pitted with obstacles. Now he is to conduct the second oldest orchestra in Britain, the players in which are to receive year-round contracts and the schedule of which will include 200 concerts a year, the Luftwaffe blitz notwithstanding.

John Burr, United States bass, who will appear in joint recital at First Presbyterian church next Tuesday with Henry Atack, pianist, has appeared in San Francisco Opera Company productions with Mona Paulee, Edmonton-born mezzo-soprano, who will open the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Series here next season. "I know Mona Paulee very well," Mr. Burr said. "She was one of a young group of singers, of which I myself was one, who appeared with the company in the seasons 1937, 1938 and 1939. I may say that Edmonton has every reason to be proud of her. We all thought that she had an unusual gift and a fine voice. She sang leading roles and understudied all the roles sung by Elizabeth Rethberg, leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. Among the operas Mona studied were La Juive, Force of Destiny and Trovatore. Also, she studied at least two Wagnerian roles. Her press notices were most favorable and one critic wrote of her that she was a second Lillian Nordica. The general opinion was that she was a real operatic star.

After his appearance with the San Francisco company, Mr. Burr went abroad and studied with Alberto Cheli and Frederico Russi of Milan. Mr. Burr also sang at the famous La Scala opera there. The program of Tuesday's concert is:

Bois Epais, Lully; I Attempt From Love's Sickness to Fly, Purcell; Verdant Meadows, Handel; Vittoria, Vittoria, Carissimi; Verborgenheit, Wolf; Wie Melodien Ziehr es mir, Brahms; Aufenthalt, Schubert; With Joy th'Impatient Husbandman, from The Seasons, Haydn; Mighty King and Lord All Glorious, from the Christmas Oratorio, Bach; all sung by Mr. Burr.

Organ solos: Prelude and Fugue in E Minor, Bach; Fanfare, Lemmons; played by Henry Atack. Non piu Andrai, from The Marriage of Figaro, Mozart; Vous qui Faites L'ewdormie, from Faust, Gounod; Crucifixion, Black Sheep, Black Sheep, Ride on, King Jesus, Negro spirituals arranged by W. A. Fisher, and sung by Mr. Burr.

Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the Women's Musical Club, Celebrity Series announced Saturday that the final dates of next season's series had been set. The artists, with their dates, are: Mona Paulee, Wednesday, Oct. 13; Yehudi Menuhin, Friday, Nov. 5; Thomas L. Thomas, Saturday, Dec. 11; Anne Brown, Wednesday, Jan. 12; Arthur Rubenstein, Friday, Feb. 4; Jan Peerce, Friday, March 3.

On Sunday, May 9, Mother's Day, at 3 p.m., there will be a special concert at the Rialto theatre, in aid of the Navy, Army and Wings club, which will open new quarters in the near future in the Jackson Building. Artists who are scheduled to appear on the program include John Burr, United States bass; William Foster, United States baritone; Ella Caggey King, contralto; Henry Atack and G. A. Kevan, who will play two-piano numbers and Hazel Taylor, pianist, who will play the first movement of the Schumann Piano Concerto in A Minor, accompanied by the Edmonton Philharmonic Orchestra under Ronald Shean.

The above map gives some indication of the ease with which a continuous umbrella of aircraft could be maintained over a very long section of the French coast when the attack against the continent of Europe is launched. This is requisite to success in making an attack over water. The protection of ships, assault craft and tank-landing craft from attack by air or torpedo boats is the main problem, and this can only be done by aircraft flying in continuous waves over the vessels as they approach the hostile shore.

Nazis Thwart Finnish-Soviet Plan For Peace

By JACK FLEISCHER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

STOCKHOLM, May 1,—Finland and Russia were on the point of discussing terms for a separate peace before Germany discovered and thwarted the negotiations, informed sources disclosed today.

(A London Daily Telegraph dispatch from Stockholm said the United States advised Helsinki two months ago that Russia had agreed to discuss a separate peace on terms which would be "extremely satisfactory" to Finland. The United States was to act as mediator, the dispatch said.)

BALKED BY RIBBENTROP

When word of the impending peace talks reached Berlin, informants said, German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop called in the Finnish minister, Toivo M. Kivimaeki, and demanded that Finland break off diplomatic relations with the United States, which apparently had played a leading role in the preliminary manoeuvres.

Finnish Foreign Minister Sir Henrik Ramsay hurried to Berlin to attempt to sooth Ribbentrop and eventually agreed to break off the negotiations with Russia but not diplomatic relations with the United States.

The United States showed its displeasure with the sudden breakdown in the peace negotiations by ordering most of its diplomatic staff from Helsinki to Stockholm.

Robertson United Church Celebrates 33rd Anniversary

Robertson United church will celebrate the 33rd anniversary of the founding of the congregation on Sunday, with special services both morning and evening. Flt. Lt. J. Gordon Brown, minister of the church, on leave of absence to the R.C.A.F. as a chaplain, will preach on both occasions, and the choir, assisted by the junior choir, will lead the praise in the morning, and at the evening hour St. David's Welsh Male Choir will sing. Miss Paula Woody will be the morning soloist.

The congregation was organized in 1909, with the late Rev. Dr. J. E. Duclos as interim moderator and preaching at the first evening service. The late Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen of First Presbyterian church, preached in the morning. The Rev. R. G. Stewart, now of St. John's Presbyterian church, Toronto, was the first minister. He was succeeded by the Rev. Henry Dickie, D.D., now retired.

In 1924 Rev. Thomas H. Mitchell, D.D., was called to the pastorate and in turn he was succeeded in 1931 by the Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, now serving as the minister of First United church, Victoria. The present minister, the Rev. J. Gordon Brown, M.A., B.D., was inducted on Nov. 4, 1938. He is now in the chaplain services with the R.C.A.F., and in his absence the Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson had charge of the work for the year 1942, and Rev. Dr. Murdoch MacKinnon is the present incumbent.

MEMBERSHIP GROWS

The membership has grown steadily in the course of the years and it now stands at more than 1,100. The Sunday school has an enrolment of 550. In addition two branch Sunday schools are being conducted, Jasper Place, under the leadership of the Rev. T. T. Reikie, and Sherbrooke, in charge of J. Mair. The annual missionary contribution amounts to approximately $5,000. The church is well-organized, and active work is being done every day of the week. The Red Cross and war services units are making a substantial contribution to the war effort, and messages go regularly from the congregation to the men and women on active service. E. E. Sexsmith is chairman of the board of stewards; Dr. Thomas G. How, general superintendent of the Sunday school; Mrs. Geo. H. Scott, president of the Woman's Association, and Mrs. William Smith is president of the W.M.S. The choirs have been giving consistently efficient service under the leadership of G. A. Kevan.

In the evening the anthem Holy Art Thou will be sung, as will The Lost Chord and Remember Me.

Canadians Urged To Forget About Petty Quibbling

BRANDON, Man., May 1—(CP)—Mrs. Dorise W. Nielsen, Unity member of parliament for North Battleford, in a public address last night urged Canadians to forget all sectionalism, petty quibbling, and to throw every ounce of energy into the final crushing of Germany.

The government, she said, was the power that was directing Canada's war effort, "and since it cannot be changed," it must be given every support to enable the flow of arms and ammunition required for those Canadians who stand ready to invade the continent.

Mrs. Nielsen criticized those Canadians who go about their routine business almost forgetting the war and she said she believed there were thousands in this category.

Coldwell Urges Support of Govt. In Loan Drive

WINNIPEG, May 1—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., urging citizens to purchase Victory Bonds, last night said "we must support the methods laid down by the government and approved by parliament."

Addressing a meeting of party supporters under auspices of the Manitoba council of the C.C.F., Mr. Coldwell criticized policies of the federal government generally and in particular discussed the Shipshaw project in Quebec, being constructed by the Aluminum Company of Canada.

"Never in the history of a democratic government has any deal been so advantageous to a corporation as this deal," he said, stating that after the war the Shipshaw power plant would revert to the Aluminum company.

Cite Needs For High Post-War National Income

NANAIMO, B.C., May 1—(CP)—Hon. John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, in an address here yesterday, said that the problem of a high national income after the war depended on maximum use of the nation's capital and resources.

Right application of scientific development would be a great source of strength to the nation as was illustrated in the enhanced production of grain on the Canadian plains. This was due to the study and application of agricultural science.

Mr. Bracken came to Nanaimo in the course of a Dominion tour and left for Vancouver last night.

Anniversary

Flt.-Lt. J. Gordon Brown, minister of Robertson United church, now on leave of absence as a chaplain to the R.C.A.F., who will preach at 33rd anniversary service at the church on Sunday.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By MISS HELEN FERRIS
Edmonton

A Prayer for Home and Family

As Christian Home and Family Week is being celebrated during the week May 2 to 9 inclusive, culminating in observance of Mother's Day on the latter date, the following message is considered to be appropriate to the occasion.—EDITOR.

OUR HEAVENLY FATHER, we thank Thee for Home, with all that it stands for and all that it is, and for the privilege of making it a shrine to Thee. We would keep inviolate its peace and sanctity, making it a place of security and harmony, a bulwark and a shelter; a place where there is always love and sympathy and understanding, comfort and encouragement and cheer. Its dear, familiar things steady us and help us keep our balance in a chaotic world; its joys and sorrows knit us together as a family in the close bonds of mutual experiences.

We thank Thee for the wise, kind heads of home—Father and Mother—whose human love and guidance speak to us of Thine, and teach us that loving foresight shapes Thy divine Plan for us, though Thy way is not always our way; for brothers and sisters through whose fellowship we are drawn closer to our Elder Brother, the Son of man.

We ask Thy blessing on all homes today, Father, and especially on those where there are empty places and desolate hearts. We pray Thou wilt grant the realization that Thy protective care still infolds members who must be absent in far places at this time, and comfort all grieving hearts with the assurance that their dear ones are safe and happy in their eternal Home with Thee. For the sake of Thy beloved Son. Amen.

Central United

The Rev. Spurgeon M. Hirtle, B.A., B.D., minister of Strathcona Baptist church, who will be the guest preacher at Central United church anniversary service Sunday at 11 a.m. The Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., D.D., minister of McDougall United, will preach at the evening service.

"The Disclosure of a Divine Secret" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered at the morning service at Norwood Baptist church by the pastor, the Rev. G. R. Dawe. There will also be communion and reception of new members. At the evening service the subject of the sermon will be "The Abolition of Death."

The minister, the Rev. Daniel Daniel Young, will preach at both services on Sunday at First Baptist church. In the morning for his topic he has chosen, "Why I Go to Church Sunday After Easter." The anthem will be "Come Unto Him." At the evening service Mr. Young will preach on "Thirty Pieces." The anthem will be "Comes at Times a Stillness." A male quartet also will be heard.

The Rev. J. B. M. Armour, M.A., general secretary for the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada and Newfoundland, will arrive in Edmonton on Tuesday, May 11. While here he will address churches, schools and other groups on the world-wide service of the Bible Society in the present global war and the society's comprehensive program for post war reconstruction. The Bible Society, for more than a hundred years, has carried on extensive Bible circulation in the countries, now occupied by the Axis powers. In this service it has become a household name in these countries and has recognition from all classes. Even in the time of enemy occupation, the society is kept informed about the Bible situation in these countries. Its service to prisoners of war—peoples of these countries—has been deeply appreciated. Hence the Bible Society is in a position to carry on its program of the preparation of adequate stocks of scriptures, in required languages, in readiness for the day when the war shall cease.

The sacrament of baptism will be administered at the morning service at First Presbyterian church on Sunday. Anthem at that time will be "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." A duet will be sung by Miss Helen Mackie and Miss Claire Hollingworth. Subject of the evening sermon will be "They Were Rationed Too." Soloist in the evening will be Mrs. William McLelland. "The Loneliness of Sin" will be the subject of the serman to be delivered by the Rev. H. Douglas Stewart at St. Andrew's church. In the evening Mr. Stewart will preach on "The Woman of Samaria." Thousands Hail Marchers Here In Loan Parade

United States of America, carrying rifles, marched along Edmonton's Jasper avenue. A pennant of a unit of the United States Corps of Engineers, fluttered ahead, a representative squad from the corps that is completing the stupendous task of the Alaska Highway far in advance of schedule, were cheered to the echo as they swung along the street in an advanced position of honor accorded a great and gallant ally.

Men of the U.S. Army Air Force also marched with their comrades of the Engineers Corps.

Every branch of the fighting services was represented. There were men from Canada's young but hard-hitting navy, inspiring in their navy blue with white-topped summer hats. There were the long rows of khaki-clad men from Canada's fighting army, both active and reserve, looking fit and ready in full battle array and steel helmets. And there were the brisk, jaunty girls of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, a picture of precision and neatness in their smart uniforms.

MANY AIRMEN PARTICIPATE

Then there were the long columns of airmen, marching with springy step and measured pendulum swing of the arms. Soon to form new legions of the aerial armadas that are giving the Axis rest neither by day or by night were youths from England, Scotland and Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, and every corner of the far-flung Empire in addition to hundreds of Canadians soon to become knights of the air.

The varied uniforms presented a striking picture of color in the slanting rays of the fading sun. There were the scarlet coats of the R.C.M.P., the navy blue and white of the sailors, the darker olive of the U.S. servicemen, the deep blue of the Royal Australian Air Force, the lighter blue of the R.C.A.F. and R.A.F., and the familiar khaki tone of the Canadian army. Set to the stirring martial strains of the bands it was a motion picture, long to be remembered.

And watchers were reminded often that this is mechanized war, with machines playing a leading role.

Powerful trucks hauled batteries of camouflaged death-dealing field artillery. The old rumble was absent from the gun limbers. They moved silently, but all the more ominously, on pneumatic tires.

MOBLE UNITS

Then there were Universal Bren gun carriers, troop-carrying lorries with steel sides, Red Cross ambulances, dispatch riders mounted on motorcycles, and convoy trucks. All the mechanized equipment looked business-like and efficient under a paint coating of drab camouflage.

The men and women of the services, the mechanized units, and everything about the impressive moving spectacle transmitted an inaudible but powerfully clear message that there is going to be an attack and that Canadians everywhere, and Edmontonians in particular, must back that attack with money that buys uniforms and guns trucks, planes and equipment of all kinds.

On a saluting base, erected at the south side of Jasper avenue and 101 street, His Honor Lieutenant Governor J. C. Bowen took the salute.

With him on the saluting base was Major General W. A. Griesback, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D.; Lieut. J. Dawson, officer commanding H.M.C.S. Nonsuch, the Edmonton naval establishment; Lt. Col. Foran, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and Superintendent John Bird, head of the criminal investigation division of the R.C.M.P. for Alberta.

MASS OF HUMANITY

As the last units of the parade swung past the saluting base and headed for 100 avenue and dismissed, the crowds jamming the sidewalks at 101 street and Jasper surged forward like a human tidal wave and for a time the square was a milling mass of humanity. It required about 15 minutes for the dense crowds to clear away. Street car and motor traffic was at a complete standstill for that period.

City police, assisted by the Legion of Frontiersmen and Canadian and U.S. military police, who had successfully kept the straining thousands back on the curbs while the parade was passing, were helpless to cope with that wild surge. The crowd was orderly, however, and no injuries were reported.

The parade, organized by John Michaels, was under the command of Group Captain R. M. Smith, commanding officer at No. 3 "M" depot. WO1. J. H. Blundell, R.C.A.F., was parade warrant officer.

A sedan, carrying Chief Constable Matthew Blackwood and other police officers preceded the parade by a minute or two. Then followed policemen in motorcycles with sidecars.

The military band of the 2nd Reserve Bn. of the Edmonton Fusiliers came next. Then marched 18 stalwart men of the R.C.M.P. in scarlet tunics.

VETERANS MARCH PAST

Marching proudly beneath a forest of tossing regimental colors, battle flags and colors of all units participating in the parade, except the Americans, came a color party of men from the Canadian Legion and other war veterans' organizations in the city.

The North and South Edmonton battalions of the Veterans' Guard, with officers and men wearing medals, followed next and the men of the last war, who are still standing guard for Canada, were given salvo after salvo of deserved cheers.

A pipe band skirled a catchy march in front of men of the Canadian Legion, led by Edmonton Legion President H. E. Tanner. The Legionnaires wore their colored wedge caps and gold-lettered blazers with medals.

Wearing the bright colored berets, denoting each of the four divisions of Canada's immortal Army Corps of the First Great War, came men of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Corps Association, headed by President John Turner. Then there were men of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, the Imperial Veterans, and other bodies of ex-service men all marching proudly, with chests agleam with medals and ablaze with ribbons, from many hard-fought campaigns.

Always a prime favorite with Edmontonians, the smartly-dressed Edmonton school boys' band, followed, with a quartet of sprightly majorettes leading the way.

The U.S. detachment of airmen and engineers followed the school-boys' band.

Then came the men of the navy, some carrying rifles and others without.

Next in line were the Sea Cadets, just as smartly turned out as their older brothers in service. The Sea Cadets drum and bugle band followed. Then came the Edmonton company of the C.W.A.C., led by Capt. Dorothy Bouchard.

Swinging along like veterans in full battle array came the senior Edmonton Reserve unit, the 2nd Bn. of the Edmonton Fusiliers, commanded by Lt. Col. H. E. Pearson, M.C.

Artillery came next with the 61st Reserve battery and two modern field pieces.

The R.C.A.S.C., with lorries, trucks and jeeps followed. Trucks carried signs reading:

"Lend your money; we'll see you get it back."

There were more universal carriers, mounting Bren guns. Bugle bands of various reserve units played as each passed the saluting base.

Making a particularly fine appearance as they swung past the saluting base, headed by the band playing the regimental air, "Bonnie Dundee," was the 2nd "Reserve" Bn. of the Edmonton regiment. Lt. Col. R. Walter Hale, M.C., officer commanding the unit, marched at the head.

In one army truck a "wounded" soldier on a stretcher was being attended by R.C.A.M.C. personnel.

Then came the airmen.

First were trainees from No. 2 Air Observers' School, headed by Squadron Leader J. Opie, commanding officer at the school. Australian and New Zealand airmen in training there marched with this flight.

Next was the band from No. 4 Initial Training School followed by trainees from the school headed by the school's new commanding officer, Wing Commander Ewart C. Macpherson.

No. 3 "M" depot band followed the airmen from No. 4 I.T.S. and then the "M" depot air trainees, headed by Squadron Leader Bythell, officer commanding the training wing.

AIR CADET SQUADRONS

Marching smartly came the Edmonton squadrons of the Air Cadets of Canada, followed by R.C.A.F. ambulances and other motorized equipment. Bringing up the rear was a unit of the Legion of Frontiersmen.

Aerial bombs exploding at different times added realism to the scene.

The Bulletin's
SPORT SHOW
by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

THE Kentucky Derby, that most colorful of all American race classics, was inaugurated in 1875, the first race being run on May 17 of that year. And today's, the 69th running of the great test for three-year-olds, will be remembered as the first in which definite efforts were taken to limit the size of the crowd.

And Mrs. John Hertz's Count Fleet has made more Derby history by being quoted at the lowest overnight odds ever recorded. Apparently Ocean Wave was the only entry credited with having even an outside chance by the wise money handlers.

But possibly somebody may have guessed wrongly again. Last year it will be recalled Jockey Eddie Arcaro made the biggest mis-call. Having the choice of Shut Out and Devil Diver, the famous jockey took the Devil to the starting gate and that was the closest he ever got to the ultimate winner. Shut Out, Mrs. Payne Whitney's second entry, finished two and a quarter lengths ahead of Alsab, with Valdinah Orphan claiming the show spot. Devil Diver was sixth.

W. J. KELLY HONORED

SEVENTEEN years constitutes quite a lengthy period but that is the stretch which W. J. Kelly served as secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Lawn Bowling Association. His service to the cause of lawn bowling in the province has been gratefully acknowledged by the conferring upon him last night of a life membership in the association.

William McGruther, the new appointee, has also had a long record of excellent service in the game to his credit. He has been secretary for many years of the Royal Club and has always taken a prominent part in the annual tournament. In addition to acting as manager each year the tournament has been held in Edmonton, he usually contrived to take out sufficient time to claim his share of the honors.

According to Archie Allen, president of the Alberta Association and who is also secretary of the Garneau Club, prospects are good for another banner season. The Garneau club, of which R. B. Law is president, is holding its annual meeting on Tuesday night.

INTER-CLUB GOLF

COUNTRY Club, Highlands, Mayfair and Municipal will be the only clubs represented in the inter-club golf competition for the McMullen cup this year. First games will be played on Sunday, May 9. Highlands won the trophy in 1942.

There will be no club at Prince Rupert course this year and as a result the competition will be limited to four contenders. Rupert is being maintained as an open course this summer.

Prince Rupert course has been in operation since 1931 and Maurice Hunter, again named to the position, has been manager since 1935.

Wrigley to Organize Girls All-America Softball League

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP)—Philip K. Wrigley, owner of Chicago Cubs, has peeled off $100,000 to organize a glamor circuit called the All-America Girls' Softball League. "The need for additional recreation in towns busy with war defence work prompted the idea," he said.

He has sent talent scouts to hunt down beauty as well as playing ability. Trials have been held in at least 10 midwestern and southwestern cities, and the search has reached into Canada to sign players for salaries ranging from $50 to $80 a week.

Upwards of 100 girls will report at Chicago's Wrigley Field May 17 for spring training and will get paid for it. Sixty will be selected, 15 going to each of the four teams in the league. A 100-game schedule, including many exhibitions at U.S. navy and army bases, will start May 30.

Racine and Kenosha in Wisconsin already have been selected as league members. Each will start out with $45,000 bank accounts made up from their guarantee funds of $22,500 which were matched by the league.

"The league is a non-profit venture," explained Wrigley. "Proceeds will be used to expand. We eventually hope to build a structure of minor leagues. The league itself will control the players, rather than the clubs, to maintain a balance of talent assuring close competition."

Trustees of the league are Wrigley; Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Paul V. Harper, attorney for the Cubs. Ken Sells, former assistant of the Cubs general manager, is president.

The current season marks the ninth successive year Maurice Hunter has been manager of the Prince Rupert Golf links. Maurice reports the course is already in excellent shape.

Winnipeg Cagers Ready for Series

WINNIPEG, May 1—(CP)—Mrs. Mary Phillips, manager of the Winnipeg Altomahs, Manitoba senior women's basketball champions, said here last night that the team was packed and waiting for completion of arrangements for the Dominion championship series against Vancouver Hedlunds at Vancouver.

Mrs. Phillips said she had wired acceptance of play-off dates to Charles McLachlan of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, but had received no confirmation nor word of the deposit covering Vancouver's guarantee.

She said the team has been practising nightly for several weeks and that in order to be ready for the three-of-five game series players would need to leave here Sunday morning.

Any further delay, she said, would handicap their chances of shaking the kinks from their legs before the first game after the 1,700-mile journey.

Game Goes 10 Innings

Leonard Pitches Senators To 2-1 Victory Over Yankees

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Emil (Dutch) Leonard, veteran knuckle ball pitcher who was not much help to Washington last year because of a broken leg, matched his 1942 won mark Friday when he hurled the Senators to a 2-1 10-inning victory over New York Yankees.

In chalking up his second victory of the season, Leonard outpointed Hank Borowy in a mound duel that was decided when Ellis Clary, Senators' third baseman, led off the 10th with a double. After Gene Moore had flied out, Stan Spence was intentionally passed and then Bob Johnson crashed through with the game-winning single.

Leonard checked the American League champions with four hits, one of which was Charlie Keller's fourth-inning triple that led to the Yanks' run. He fanned two and issued only one free ticket to first. Borowy was touched for seven safe blows, two of which came in the second when Jim Vernon's single, Gerry Priddy's sacrifice and Jake Early's one-bagger sent the Senators off in front.

The defeat was the Yanks' second of the season and dropped them into a tie for first place in the American League with the idle Cleveland Indians. The game was the only one played in the major leagues and was witnessed by a ladies' day crowd of 8,000.

Count Fleet Sets Record For Low Odds

By SID FEDER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—(AP)—This strangest of Kentucky Derbies came up with a new wrinkle yesterday as Count Fleet and 11 other three-year-olds were entered to run the mile and a quarter today for a necklace of roses worth $60,725. Some 50,000 are expected to attend this "street car" derby.

Topping off such developments as a shadow of doubt surrounding the highly regarded Ocean Wave's chances of getting to the post and Derbytown almost wierdly empty of the usual mobs of out-of-town celebrants, the touch of confusion popped up Friday when a "mysterious" entry blank showed up and then had to be "lost" again.

This was a blank made out in the name of Seven Hearts, the horse with the ailing foot from the barn of J. Graham Brown, local hotel man. When the entry box closed, only 12 horses were supposed to be nominated to start in the big waltz at Churchill Downs at 5:30 p.m., C.D.T., today. Then, in the draw for post positions, the slip for Seven Hearts was discovered and after he drew a lane it was withdrawn again because his trainer didn't know a thing about it.

Under its pledge to the war effort to have only fans from greater Louisville in for this year's shindig, the "Downs" customary jam-session of 85,000 or 90,000 cash customers will be sliced almost in half.

And most notable of all, there's not enough bourbon in town to make mint juleps to go 'round.

It is almost unanimously agreed that Count Fleet, carrying the canary and black silks of Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago, is a simple cake-walk for the big pot.

The Hertz Hurricane was installed as the shortest priced future-book favorite in all Derby history, and he has lived up to that ranking in his two starts so far this spring, romping to two triumphs at Jamaica—one of them the Wood Memorial. His odds have dropped until they've hit rockbottom 1 to 2 right now.

In the past 11 days, Ocean Wave has scored two red-hot wins on the Derby home grounds in the Blue Grass stakes and the Derby Trial mile. So, the "knock-down-the-favorite" marching and chowder club has been coming to the conclusion that maybe the Wave can sink the Fleet yet.

This is especially so since the chestnut son of Blenheim—who also sired Whirlaway, the Wave's stablemate in the barn of Warren Wright of Chicago—has the backing of the training magic of Ben Jones of Parnell, Mo., already winner of two previous derbies with Whirly in 1941 and Lawrin in '38.

However, he came up with a cracked heel in the Blue Grass and suffered a recurrence of the ailment—possibly even a little more severe—in the trial mile on Tuesday. As a result, Ben won't decide definitely until he gives the colt a half-mile "blow out" and a careful look-see this morning whether he'll Let the Wave roll in the derby.

Aside from the Wave and the Fleet only four others in the list of a dozen are even given a look-in.

These four are Blue Swords, son of Blue Larkspur carrying the hopes of Allen T. Simmons, Akron (Ohio) radio station operator; Slide Rule, from the barn of W. E. Boeing, the Seattle Flying Fortress man; Gold Shower, owned by Mrs. Vera S. Bragg of Greenwich, Conn., and Amber Light, from the barn of Charles T. Fisher, Detroit automobile body builder and conqueror of Ocean Wave in the Louisiana Derby last February.

Others are Twoses, the other half of the Boeing "Duet"; Modest Lad, standard bearer for Mrs. Henry L. Finch, wife of a New York stockbroker; No Wrinkles, hope of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago for her second derby winner (her Gallahadion upset Bimelech three years ago); Dove Pie, owned by J. Warfield Rodgers, Memphis (Tenn.) sportsman, and the two who are expected to fight it out for last place—Townsend B. Martin's Bankrupt, a New York candidate, and Burnt Cork, entry of Eddie Anderson, better known as Rochester of the radio.

Sugar Robinson Scores Knockout

BOSTON, May 1—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, Harlem Negro regarded by many as the uncrowned welterweight champion, disposed of Freddie Cabral of Cambridge with four terrific left hooks to the body after two minutes and 20 seconds of one-sided fisticuffing last night in the Boston Boxing Association's scheduled 10-round feature bout at the Boston Garden.

Robinson, a private in the United States Army stationed at Mitchel Field, N.Y., weighed 148, three pounds less than the over-ambitious Cabral, who apparently agreed to step out of his class after piling up a string of 12 consecutive wins over run-of-the-mine opponents.

W. J. Kelly Served 17 Years

Lawn Bowling Association Names W. McGruther Secy.

William McGruther was unanimously chosen as the new secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Lawn Bowling Association at the annual meeting held in Garneau Club rooms on Friday night.

The previous incumbent, W. J. Kelly, who had held the position for 17 years resigned due to other duties and was voted a life membership in the association for meritorious services.

The meeting named Monday, Aug. 2, as the starting day for the provincial tournament which is being held in Calgary this year. The tournament will last for four days.

This event, an annual affair, is staged alternately in Calgary and Edmonton.

The adjourned annual meeting will be held in the southern city on Aug. 3.

The meeting also voted to purchase $400 worth of the current issue of victory bonds out of the funds of the association.

Reports made at last night's meeting indicate an increased interest in lawn bowling throughout the province and prospects accordingly appear bright for a very successful season. Several enquiries have been received from new clubs being formed regarding the building of greens.

Archie Allen, president of the Association presided at the meeting.

Secretary

William McGruther was named secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Lawn Bowling Association at last night's meeting. He succeeds W. J. Kelly, resigned, who had held the position for the past 17 years.

Fritzie Zivic Kayoes Roszina

MILWAUKEE, May 1—(AP)—Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, whipped Johnny Roszina of Milwaukee twice last night and finally settled for a technical knockout victory in the eighth round of a 10-round main bout.

The Pittsburgh veteran caught Roszina with a short right to the jaw early in the first round, knocking him to the canvas. Roszina got to both knees at the count of four, remained in that position while referee Ted Jameson finished the count of 10, then leaped to his feet protesting that he had not understood the count.

The fight was resumed in the second round. At the end of the eighth the referee examined Roszina's eyes, decided he could not go on and declared Zivic the winner by a technical knockout.

Zivic weighed 150¾, Roszina 149¼.

Prince Rupert Golf Course in Good Condition

Centrally located Prince Rupert golf course has been in operation for more than two weeks already and according to Manager Maurice Hunter a big season is in sight.

The manager also reports that play is now taking place on the permanent greens which were cut for the first time yesterday. The course is in excellent condition.

No club has been formed at Rupert this year and as a result there will be no entry from the course in McMullen Cup competition.

The course at Prince Rupert is reserved for the use of the general public. It is well cared for and its large greens and level fairways along with the fact that it is so readily accessible make it very attractive to city golfers.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Optimistic Mike Jacobs is negotiating for an international heavyweight title fight between Sgt. Joe Louis of the U.S. Army and Sgt. Freddie Mills of the Royal Air Force, to be staged at Yankee Stadium after the war ends.

Jacobs, who long ago gave up plans for a return bout between Louis and Cpl. Billy Conn, believes that Louis and Mills—outstanding heavyweight in the British Empire—would provide an attraction comparable to the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier extravaganza of 1921.

He opened negotiations this week with Thomas "Babe" Culnan of Newark, N.J., who is Mills' American representative. Culnan then mailed Jacobs' proposals to Mills' manager, Ted Broadribb of London.

Culnan said Friday, "I'm sure there will be no trouble over terms. Mills is a great young fighter and anxious to get a shot at Louis. They'll meet all right, if the war ends within a reasonable time."

MAY FIGHT GALENTO

CULNAN added that British sportsmen, meanwhile, are trying to arrange a couple of wartime bouts for British service funds between Mills and American civilian heavies, to be staged in London. He said Tony Galehto will be Mills' first opponent if the London promoters can arrange to have Tony flown over this summer by the Ferry Command.

We asked Lieut. Cmdr. Jack Dempsey of the Coast Guard what he thought of the proposed Louis-Mills tilt. Jack said, "that's the best idea Mike Jacobs ever came up with. It would be a great fight and a dangerous one for Louis. I've talked to a lot of servicemen — Britishers and Americans—who have seen Mills in the ring. They all agree that he's a terrific fighter—American styled, with a knockout punch, fast and tough.

"If Mills is as good as they say, he might lick Louis. You've got to remember that Joe will be 29 in two weeks and the longer the war lasts, the older he will be when he meets Mills. Meanwhile Joe is out of competition and probably getting dull. But Mills is only 23; he hasn't reached his peak yet, and he's fighting right along, keeping sharp."

MILLION-DOLLAR GATE

IT was Dempsey's international brawl with Carpentier of France that drew the ring's first million-dollar gate — $1,789,238. Jack knocked out the "orchid man" in the fourth round at Jersey City.

Culnan described Mills as "an over-grown Mickey Walker who tosses stunning leather from gong to gong, until his opponent goes down."

He said the black-haired well proportioned sergeant from Bournemouth, England, is riding a string of 14 straight victories and has knocked out 36 of his 71 opponents. His kayo victims include Len Harvey, Jock McAvoy and Tons Martin, all of whom campaigned in the United States. He never has been kayoed. He is comparatively small—five feet ten and 182 pounds.

"Something like Dempsey at Toledo," Culnan concluded.

TORONTO, May 1.—(CP)—It's all for the war effort so none will complain but it will be a blow to Hamilton, Ont., sport if the proposal to cut the cricket grounds there into victory gardens is carried out. None would suspect it from the name, but the cricket grounds' claim to fame was chiefly as the home of Hamilton's great football teams. There the mighty Tigers ranted and roared to rugby glory. There, too, the Tiger stripes were trampled on that memorable December day in 1935 when Fritz Hanson won the west's first Grey cup for Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Possibility this storied playing field may become a potato patch has started Claude Kewley of the Sarnia Observer into sympathy for the Hamilton Spectator sport scribes, Walter McMullen and Tommy Moore. "If the present trend continues in Hamilton," writes Kewley, "McMullen may well be forced to change the name of his daily column, "The Sports Trail. Almost any day, it may appear under the heading of 'The Man with the Hoe'."

Hockey clean-up:

Now that Winnipeg Rangers have proved Oshawa Generals actually can be beaten, Ontario junior hockey clubs are showing more enthusiasm in their organizing for next winter. Galt has broken out with announcement it will have a team, husbanded by Detroit Red Wings and coached by Al Murray, former New York Americans defenceman. There are even rumors that St. Catharines and Niagara Falls might enter the junior "A" series. . . . Rivals in the Allan cup final, Neil Colville of Ottawa Commandos and Bill Carse of Victoria Army are reported due to train together at Gordon Head, B.C., for their army commissions.

Mioland is weighted just one pound under Attention and Riverland.

Others named overnight to contest today's Dixie were A. J. Sackett's Tola Rose; Hal Price Headley's Anticlimax and Equinox; Hazel M. Babylon's Abbe Pierre; Greentree Stable's Corydon; Mrs. Ray Feinberg's Firebroom.

Strikeouts Total 3497

Johnson Greatest Hurler Despite No Curve Pitching

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, May 1.—Walter Perry Johnson was the greatest pitcher who ever lived despite the fact that everybody in the park knew what he was going to throw. The ball was either fast or faster.

Johnson had a pendulum arm which propelled the ball like a slingshot. The Big Train's sweeping, effortless delivery was a little lower than that of a sidearm pitcher.

Had there been a mean streak in Johnson, batters would not have dared to leave the bench.

Shortly before the fine Cleveland shortstop was killed by Carl Mays' bean ball in 1920, Billy Evans called a second strike on Ray Chapman in a game pitched by Johnson. Chapman started for the dugout.

"I DON'T WANT IT"

"You have another strike coming, Ray," said Umpire Evans.

"Never mind, Billy," replied Chapman. "I don't want it."

Had Johnson been ambitious to set records, he would have established more than he did, and more than a dozen of his marks still stand. His total strikeouts, 3,497, is likely to stand for all time. He had an earned-run figure of 1.15 in 1913.

Johnson threw a light, live ball which was as easy to catch as it was difficult to hit.

To make things still more unpleasant for batters, Eddie Ainsmith used to whistle as the ball shot into his glove.

When Johnson took over the Cleveland club in 1933 at the age of 45, in batting practice he was still the swiftest pitcher in the game.

ADMITS WAS "THROWER"

Johnson admits he was a "thrower" until he hurt his arm in '20, following which he "learned to pitch." But to the end he was only experimenting when he resorted to anything but the hard one.

In days of trick deliveries, Johnson's pitching was an open book. Barney did not make the slightest attempt to conceal anything. The batter saw the ball from the time the Big Train got it until it left his hand. But that usually was the last the batter saw of it.

Johnson simply reared back and let it go. That was the only way he could pitch effectively. There was no stopping once he cocked his long arm. He had to go through with his natural motion. There could be no hitch for the purpose of curving the ball.

Johnson had to pitch overhand to throw a curve, and consequently everybody, including the groundkeeper, knew when it was coming, too. The Big Train liked to experiment when he could afford to and had two strikes on the batter, which was frequently the case. Fellows like Eddie Collins would say: "I'll get two fast ones and maybe a curve—I hope." They would lay for the curve.

PROUD OF WRINKLE CURVE

Johnson once struck out Babe Ruth with a curve, and when no one remarked about it on his return to the dugout, said: "There, I strike out Ruth with a curve and nobody gives me credit."

In 1908, 21-year-old Walter Johnson shut out the New York Highlanders at the old hilltop grounds on Friday with six hits, on Saturday with four and on Monday with two. Had there been Sunday ball in Manhattan then, he would have shut them out on that day, too.

The kid was only getting a running start.

Johnson, winner of 36 at his peak, won 23 games in 1924, when he was practically washed up, and beat the Giants in the 12-inning thriller that gave Washington the World Series.

Goodness gracious sakes alive!

And that happens to be the most profane utterance of Walter Johnson.

Walter Johnson . . . wow!

Overbidding his hand:

When comedian Bob Hope was playing golf and selling war bonds in Fort Worth, Tex., the other day, A.P. sports scribe Harold Ratliff stood by complaining that the high wind was about to blow his hat off. . . . "Why don't you pull it down tighter?" someone asked. . . . "Scared to," he replied. "If I raised my hand above my hips I might discover I have pledged myself to buy $15,000 worth of bonds."

Henry Armstrong Kayos Turiello In Fifth Round

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, little "perpetual motion" of the prize ring, took another step along the comeback trail last night by scoring a fifth-round technical knockout over Saverio Turiello, New York City.

The fight had been scheduled for 10 rounds, but Turiello went down for the count of seven in the fourth, and in the fifth Armstrong sent him against the ropes twice, then floored him with a short right to the jaw. Turiello got up, but Referee Eddie Lafond thought he'd had enough.

Armstrong weighed 142; Turiello 147.

Henry, in the 20th bout of his comeback campaign, completely outclassed Turiello.

In decisively defeating the New Yorker, whom he beat by the technical kayo route in San Francisco last December, Armstrong took a long step toward his goal of regaining one of the three world championships he once held.

Turiello started fast and rushed Armstrong for the first two rounds. They exchanged hard body blows during those heats and Turiello several times had Henry in trouble.

By the third, however, Henry's perpetual motion tactics began to tell, and Turiello showed signs of tiring. Early in the fourth a series of furious body blows and an overhand right to the jaw sent Turiello down for a count of seven.

When Lafond stopped the fight, Turiello, obviously dazed, was wandering around the ring. Armstrong refrained from attacking.

2-Boy War Plant In U.S. Produces Aircraft Parts

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 1—(AP)—A tiny "war plant," operated by two teen-aged brothers, producing delicately tooled plane parts for the United States army air forces—and with apparent success.

Jerry Morrill, 15, and his year-old brother, Giles, got their first sub-contract for bomber parts in February, 1942. The tool shop in the basement of their home was converted into a "war plant," and they turned out the order. Other orders followed and their records show the army has not rejected any parts.

Army air force officials here said their product, composed of eight parts and tooled to within 2-1,000 to 4-1,000ths of an inch, was as good as that turned out by large industrial plants.

The Morrill brothers work in the shop after school and on weekends.

Woman Objects To Jail Sentence

Dorothy DeVille, sentenced Friday by Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., to 60 days in Fort Saskatchewan jail on a charge of vagrancy, was determined she was not going there. It took the combined efforts of three police matrons and a couple of detectives to subdue her and get her into a straight jacket. She immediately got out of the jacket and went after her keepers, inflicting bruises, scratches, and torn garments on them.

At the door of the police station, on her way out to a waiting car, she continued her resistance. While a crowd gaped on 102 avenue, she was bundled into the car and taken away.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Will Edmonton become an increasingly great supply distributing centre in the post-war period?

THE ANSWERS

GERALD O'CONNOR, K.C.: Edmonton today has the outlet to the great northland, and more outlets probably will be built before the conclusion of the war. These highways and railway outlets, of necessity, will contribute to the industrial and business growth of the city. The known rich mineral deposits of the north will contribute also to the city's advancement.

FREDERICK HOPKINS, carpenter: I am of the opinion that Edmonton has the greatest future of any Canadian city. It is on the airlines of the world, and is the centre of the richest agricultural country in the dominion. Its expansion will be rapid and great.

WILLIAM HARPER, bookkeeper: The expansion of Edmonton through war work appears of a permanent character. Its future expansion seems assured through the Alaska highway and northern development. I expect to see the great agricultural lands of the north settled immediately following the war.

The girl is described as being four feet eleven inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, with dark hair, dark complexion. She was wearing a gray tweed coat, brown shoes, no hat. She carried a brown suitcase with her. She is thought to have gone by auto, the father said.

Milder Weather, Showers, Arrive

Showers visited Edmonton early Saturday morning, and forecasts promised more showers but milder weather.

When the strong wind, which has kept temperatures comparatively low during the last few days, dropped, the thermometer started to rise and registered a higher point during Friday night and Saturday morning than it has done for almost a week, namely, 43 above. Early in the week several degrees of frost had been registered.

High point registered during Friday was 64 above, while the last reading Saturday morning showed a point of 44 degrees.

Forecasts read "generally fair and mild, with light scattered showers."

Getting Around

with Jack DeLong

Were you at the Victory Loan Parade last night? If you missed it we think you were the only one. Because we saw everybody else either marching or looking on.

The parade was one of the best of a military character witnessed here since the present war started. It called for a lot of organization work. Group Captain R. M. Smith of No. 2 "M" depot and those associated with him in lining up the big parade, did a good job.

Here's a true story about a conversation in an Edmonton barber shop recently. We were right there, so we know it's true.

We feel sure the story will be appreciated by the genial United States consul general in Edmonton, Mr. John Randolph. And we think the majority of our many visitors and comrades-in-arms from south of the border, will also get a "kick" out of the yarn, too.

CANADA'S 4TH VICTORY LOAN

Backed by the Resources of the Dominion

Today, as in the Past, the Price of Freedom Is Sacrifice!

ALL DOWN THE AGES history records the fact, that the PRICE of Freedom has been SACRIFICE! And "DESERT VICTORY" showing at the Capitol Theatre next week substantiates the conclusion. It is your duty . . . it is the duty of every one of us to SACRIFICE, to give up all luxuries and non-essentials and go the limit in subscribing to Canada's 4th Victory Loan.

THOUSANDS of YOUNG CANADIANS have given up good remunerative positions and opportunities . . . the comfort of homes and the companionship of loved ones . . . others have made the supreme sacrifice that "FREEDOM should not perish from the earth."

TODAY, we who remain at home should not lose sight of our responsibility to those who are serving overseas with the Army, Navy and Air Force. This we can do in no better way than by investing every spare dollar in Canada's 4th Victory Loan.

A VICTORY BOND in the years that lie ahead, may for many, prove to be THE TREE OF SECURITY . . . "Yielding" real money . . . DOLLAR bills every year until it reaches maturity . . . WATCH IT GROW! And for the duration many will re-invest their VICTORY BOND Coupons (dollar bills) in War Savings Certificates and thus increase their "Win-the-War" Investments.

VICTORY BONDS are available in any denomination: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, and as many of each as you can arrange to finance. A $500 bond maturing in 1957 will have earned $210.00 in interest. So you see you are NOT GIVING your Savings to the Government but merely lending them.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The new treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League is Ralph W. Gresham of East Orange, N.J., who is also treasurer of the New Jersey Bridge League. A few weeks ago he insisted that I go over to New Jersey and play in their team-of-four contest. The tournament was won by Warren Samson, Jr., of New York, Ernest S. Rosmarin and Lester Glucksman of Brooklyn, and Corp. Arthur Ochs, Jr., of Camp Dix, N.J. While our team was among those who also ran, nevertheless I enjoyed playing the hand shown today.

You could hardly criticize West for doubling my four spade contract. When the dummy went down, I knew that West must have the missing honors in spades for his double. My only hope was that he had opened from a four-card club suit, and that he held the king of hearts.

3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

Opening—♣ 3. 1

I won the opening lead with the king of clubs, cashed the ace and ruffed a small club with the three of spades in dummy. Next I cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in my own hand. When West dropped the king, I felt that I had a perfect count on the hand.

I ruffed the fourth club with the five of spades in dummy. East, unable to over-ruff, discarded a diamond. Now I led the eight of spades and played the jack from my hand, West winning with the king. All West could do was to lead a small heart, which rode to my queen, and I lost only three trump tricks on the hand.

If I had failed to play the jack of spades, West could have put up a nice defence by winning the eight with the 10, cashing the ace and king, and getting out of his hand with the deuce of spades. Very often an opponent's double gives us the only chance there is to make a hand.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Live Apart, Don't Boss In-Laws, Don't Borrow

Dad With Extravagant Daughter Should Keep Up Allowance After Marriage If He Wants to Win Undying Gratitude of Son-in-Law

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can we win the love and respect of a young man who is soon to become our son-in-law? He is a fine chap and is welcome in our family, and we hope to always continue on the same good terms with him that we enjoy now.

A FATHER.

ANSWER: The first rule for getting along with your in-laws, whether they are sons-in-law or daughters-in-law, is not to live in the same house with them. Many parents, in the generosity of their hearts and their desire to help their newlywed children get a start in the world, invite them to come and live with them until they get on their feet. This is always a mistake and is provocative of more in-law trouble than anything else in the world.

The first year of every marriage is bound to be a period of adjustment, when a young couple are getting acquainted with each other's peculiarities and quirks of character, and it is always filled with quarrels and misunderstandings and falling outs and making ups, and during this crucial time they should not be where they stage their fights under Mother's or Father's nose, or provoke them to take sides.

So if you want your son-in-law to like you, dont' live where you will see Mamie's red eyes every time she and her husband have a spat, and you will feel that he must be a brute not to humor her as you and her mother have always done. And maybe you will tell him so and he will remember it as long as he lives.

Second: Don't try to boss your son-in-law. Just remember that he is a grown man and is just as much entitled to his opinions and tastes and habits ars you are. Because he has married your daughter does not give you any authority over him. Keep hands off of his affairs. And particularly don't preach to him.

Third: Don't borrow from him. This goes for money, for his car, for his clothes, for his fishing tackle, for all his belongings. Heaven alone knows why, but the great majority of parents regard their daughters' husbands as something that Providence provided for their behoof and benefit. They graft on them mercilessly. Then they wonder why their sons-in-laws don't love them.

Fourth: Don't visit your son-in-law too often, nor stay too long. The old aphorism that short visits make long friends goes double for in-laws.

Fifth: If you have reared your daughter to be extravagant keep up her allowance after she is married and thus win the undying gratitude of her husband. No father has a right to wish off a girl in whom he has cultivated pink silk lingerie taste on a poor struggling young man, without underwriting her bills.

Sixth: And in this lies all the law and the prophets—make your son-in-law feel that you are his friend and not his critic, and that you appreciate all his good points and shut your eyes to his defects. Treat him as if he were your son, and he will be a son to you.

DOES NOT TELL PAST

DEAR MISS DIX: Six months ago I met and fell in love with a handsome young man who was a stranger in our town. After a whirlwind courtship we eloped and were married. We had a brief honeymoon and then settled down in a grand apartment. My husband bought me everything I wanted and for a while we were very happy.

But a week ago I learned that he had another wife and child in another town, and I am heartbroken. He never told me anything about his past and I never questioned him. Now I regret that I did not know him better before our marriage, yet I still love him deeply. What shall I do?

SAD WIFE.

Answer: The most amazing thing in the world is the recklessness with which people marry, especially women. A woman who would not buy a $10 hat without looking it over carefully and seeing if it is made of good material instead of shoddy, and trying it on to see if it becomes her and considering whether it suits her, will marry a man without ever taking the trouble to find out the first thing about him.

Plenty of girls marry men without even finding out if the names they go under are their real ones, or false ones. They don't ask where they came from, or what kind of families they belong to, or what means of making a livelihood they have, or what sort of past they have. They don't even ask for a reference, as they would do in hiring a servant.

And, of course, the inevitable result is that only too many of them find that they married bigamists or crooks, and the honeymoon ends in the bridegroom being escorted to a penitentiary, and there is nothing that the poor little bride can do except hang her head and go back to her family and weep impotent tears over having been such a fool.

You certainly know enough about law to be aware that you have no legal standing as a wife inasmuch as the man already has another wife, so you had better clarify your situation at once. As your husband seems to be such a fascinator that you still love him in spite of the way he has treated you, perhaps he will get a divorce from his other wife and marry you, though why you want a bigamist, goodness knows.

WIDOWER IN LOVE

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 40 years old and in love with a girl of 20. I am a widower with a son four years old. I have known this girl all her life and have worked with her for the past two years, side by side, eight hours a day, six days a week. We both come from good families and have the same background.

I have a small prosperous business and can give my wife a good home, a car, and all the comforts the middle class have. Am not stingy, mean or little. She loves me and loves my child. What do you think of our chance of happiness if we marry?

H. T.

Answer: I think it is a knockout. There is hardly a chance that such a suitable marriage will fail to bring both you and the girl great happiness.

What To Do

Girls, don't neglect your man in service. Nothing keeps up the morale of soldiers and sailors more than do letters from home.

Keep these letters cheerful and gay. Tell him all the "little" news you know. He'll be glad to hear about your garden, and what movies you have seen. Let him know that the things he enjoyed are still around to be shared when he returns. Tell him about the things your friends are doing, and the bridge you play with the girls.

Don't tell him about that date you had with the handsome sergeant, because the thought of you out with another man will only deflate his ego.

Don't moan and groan about rationing and shortages. He is giving more than you are no matter how hard pressed you may be!

—V—

When you are making a white cake, don't beat the egg whites until they become too dry. It robs the batter of needed extra moisture. Beat egg whites until merely stiff.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

This
Not This

Son: "My hair won't stay combed long enough to count."

Mother: "It will for awhile, and we all enjoy looking at you more when you look clean and neat."

Son: "Why do I have to comb my hair? It gets all mussed up again."

Mother: "Because I won't have a boy at the table looking as terrible as you do."

Similar reasons answering a child's "why" can be expressed in such different terminology that one results in co-operation and the other in antagonism.

War Kitchen

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Eat one food from each of the seven basic food groups every day. Well-refrigerated meat, fish and poultry left-overs can be used in Monday's dinner as Group 5 to save costs, extra work, and to give "pleasant eating," as such dinners must be well planned and based on tested recipes. Leftovers should always appear in a new guise. Then they don't seem monotonous.

MONDAY'S MEAT PIE
(Serves 6)

One teaspoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups clear stock, 2 cups diced left-over roast beef, pork or veal, 1 recipe bran buttermilk biscuits.

Cook onion in fat until lightly browned. Blend in flour and add clear stock. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add diced meat and pour into casserole. Cover with bran buttermilk biscuits. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degree F.) about 20 minutes or until biscuits are done.

BRAN BUTTERMILK BISCUITS
(12 Biscuits)

One-half cup bran cereal, ¾ cup buttermilk, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 1-3 cup shortening.

Soak bran cereal in buttermilk. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked bran cereal; stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly a few seconds; roll or pat to ½-inch thickness and cut with floured cutter Top casserole with biscuits as suggested above.

Monday's Menu
(Eat the Basic Seven Foods)

BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes in orange juice (Group 2, 3), oatmeal with milk (Group 4, 6), toast (Group 6), jam, coffee, milk (Group 4).

LUNCHEON: Toasted cheese wholewheat sandwiches (Group 5, 6), cooked and raw vegetable salad with mayonnaise (Group 1, 3), peanut cookies (Group 5), tea, milk (Group 4).

DINNER: Monday meat pie (Group 5) with bran buttermilk biscuits (Group 6), buttered beets (Group 3), spring salad bowl (Group 1), butterscotch tarts (Group 5), tea, milk (Group 4).

Your Baby And Mine

In view of the fact that there is such a general disposition to discourage a parent from taking up or caring for a crying baby—for fear that he may become "spoiled" and demanding—I want to print the following letter.

"My baby was born a lovely, healthy little girl and I was so pleased that I could nurse her," writes Mrs. M.M. "However, having no relatives or any help in the home, I came back from the hospital ten days after she was born and began caring for her and the house. Within three days the baby began to cry. I was told to let her cry it out or she would be spoiled. My own doctor became ill and I had a doctor, not a pediatrician, look at her. The same advice was given. He saw her in his office and she screamed the whole time. But he found her not sick and so advised again to put her where I couldn't hear her and let her cry it out. He said she was 'terribly spoiled.'

"I kept to this advice until she was two months old. At one month she weighed less than when she was born. At ten weeks I was thoroughly discouraged and decided to use my own judgment. I prepared a complementary formula and let her have as much as she wanted of it after a nursing. From that moment on I had a good baby. I was so weak and sick I could hardly enjoy her.

"At three months I gave her cereal and later vegetables and egg yolk. Also, I cuddled her as often as I felt like it and she thrived beautifully.

"She sat up independently at 7 months, walked alone at 14 months and fed herself alone from that age on. She has 17 words in her vocabulary and is full of smiles and fun all of the time.

"Since my experience I have known four mothers who were given the same advice. Because of that, I felt I had to write this letter, as I have worried so much and repented so of my treatment of the baby that when I read letters about mothers who neglect their crying babies, it affects me deeply."

You need not blame yourself. I think doctors, knowing the worrisome nature of new mothers, are apt to conclude that if the mother would let the baby alone it would be better for the baby. But not when there is chronic and persistent crying. That demands attention and to fail to give it to the baby on the excuse that the baby would take advantage of one's care, is brutal and cruel.

Find out what makes the baby cry, taking it for granted that when the wrong is corrected, the baby will be as content as babies are intended to be.

Our leaflet, "The First Six Weeks," may be had by sending a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Nobody knows WHAT CAUSES TEETH TO DECAY

Scientists who have been studying the causes of tooth decay say there is no single cause that can be named. They say it cannot be traced directly to "bacteria, to nutritional deficiencies, poor heredity or to any other single cause." They say it is a combination of all of these, which they call "interacting complex factors" — whatever that means. Some even say it may be due to emotional and nervous strain affecting the chemical content of the blood and saliva. This means that the more we worry over losing our teeth the more we'll lose. Nevertheless, the tooth brush is still recommended, along with gum massaging.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—To go on with my report on the Japanese relocation centre, which I saw last week, and which I told you was fairly typical of all the others, I think the outstanding impression one receives is the feeling of respect for the staff and the problems which they must have faced at first.

When the barracks were unfinished, when water was not yet provided in sufficient quantity for the community and the people were moved in, the place must have been not only uncomfortable but very chaotic. The people, themselves, must have shown qualities of endurance and willingness to co-operate, or they would have despaired of ever making life liveable, and have become useless burdens on the government.

Great ingenuity has been used in planning schools. They have organized nursery, elementary, grade and high schools. They have no school buildings, so they use the barracks which are scattered all over the place. Two typewriters must serve all the pupils in the typing class, which means that they get a chance for ten minutes practice a day. Instead of being discouraged, they made keyboards out of cardboard with holes to represent the keys, and practised on those.

The hospital is under the direction of an American doctor, but is staffed almost entirely by Japanese doctors, one of whom formerly had a very large practice outside of his own race. He is now doing a full time job for $19 a month and his board and lodging.

You can divide the people into three groups. 1. Those who came here many years ago and cannot be citizens, but who still do not wish to go back to Japan. 2. Those who are American citizens by virtue of birth and have had all their education in this country. 3. Those who were born in this country but returned to Japan for their education and only came back here in 1939 and 1940.

These last are probably the ones who have the least allegiance to any country. Many of the young American born and educated men are now joining the army division made up of men from Hawaii and from these evacuation camps. Some of the sons of the older people were already in the arm before the evacuation took place and many of the American born girls asked me whether they would have an opportunity in the women's auxiliary services.

Arizona, New Mexico and parts of Texas have felt the war deeply because the regiments that fought and died in the Philippines, and some of whom are now imprisoned there, came largely from this part of the country. Their story is one of heroic bravery which will always live in the annals of the nation. It is natural that here the bitterness against the enemy Japanese should run high.

In spite of this, the people in this community, at least, have evidently won for themselves respect wherever they have had to go on business in neighborhood. It speaks well for the enforcement of law and order, which is largely done by the evacuees themselves, and the people's own law abiding characteristics, that the record of crime or of any kind of disturbance of the peace, is lower than in any other city of its size in the country.

McCoy Health Service

First on the list as a cause of death in America and Canada the disease costing more lives than any other, public health enemy number one—yes it is heart disease.

It is estimated that thousands of lives could be saved each year from this great killer, for to a great extent it is a preventable disease, especially in its early stages. Unfortunately ignorance on the part of the patient, and delay in securing the advice of a physician play an important part in contributing to the increasing number of deaths from heart disease.

In a recent column I emphasized the necessity of at least a yearly physical examination and perhaps no part of the examination is more important than the check-up on the heart, for many times insidious heart disease may be recognized by the doctor, even when there are no manifest symptoms. On the other hand, an individual may complain of a rapid heart beat, too slow a beat or irregularity of the beat, or palpitation. All of these may mean some heart disorder, and then again they may be only symptomatic of a functional disorder and there may be no actual disease present. However, whatever the cause, a visit to your doctor is your best insurance. There may be no other symptoms obvious to the patient, excepting that he gets all out of breath when climbing stairs or running for a street car, or there may be dizziness or a slight puffiness of the ankles.

Patients who know already that they are suffering from a heart ailment are inclined to think too much about it and to take life so easily that they actually make their condition worse through insufficient exercise. It should always be remembered that the heart is a muscular organ, and that muscles improve with exercise. The other extreme is too much exercise which is as bad or worse than not enough. Exercise such as walking, is good providing it is not carried to the point of fatigue and under a proper dietary and exercising regimen many sufferers are enabled to live almost a normal span of life or they may eventually die of some other disease not related to their heart condition.

Quite often a patient is frightened into thinking that he has a heart disorder, when in reality, he is suffering from a digestive disorder which is easily corrected by the proper diet.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Betty Brett, Robert Nigro Married Saturday Morning

RETURNS EAST

Miss Peggy Browse, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), who returned Saturday to her post in Centralia, Ont., after spending a two-weeks furlough with her parents, Major and Mrs. M. F. H. Browse, 10018 91 avenue. While here, Miss Browse attended the wedding, April 26, of her sister, Miss Marion Browse to Mr. Robert H. Binley.

In an early morning ceremony, Helen Elizabeth (Betty) Brett, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Edward S. Brett, Edmonton, was married to Robert (Monty) Nigro, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Nigro, also of this city. The wedding took place Saturday at 9 a.m. in St. Joseph's Cathedral, with Rev. Father Britton officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of dusty rose sheer, fashioned with lace inserts and Queen Elizabeth sleeves. A white, shoulder-length veil fell from her floral hat, and white shoes completed her costume.

Her only ornament was a gold bracelet, gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a nosegay of forget-me-nots, sweetheart roses, and lilies-of-the-valley.

Bridesmaid was Miss Nancy Gay Brett, sister of the bride, who was gowned in frosty blue. Her sheer dress was designed in basque effect, with three-quarter length sleeves, and was embroidered in a deeper blue. She wore a rose and blue Juliet cap of tulle, white shoes, and carried a nosegay similar to that of the bride.

Best man was Robert Schrader, Olds, Alta. Erik Watt of Edmonton, ushered.

WEDDING MUSIC

The wedding marches were played by Mrs. B. Olson, and during the signing of the register, the Rev. Father Leo Green sang "Ave Maria" and "O Promise Me." The altar of the Cathedral was adorned with fern, palms, and spring flowers.

A wedding breakfast was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 10711 81 avenue. Guests were received by Mrs. Brett, Mrs. Nigro and Miss Anne Nigro, sister of the bridegroom.

A French blue crepe dress was chosen by Mrs. Brett, who accented it with honey beige accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Nigro wore a navy tailleur with beige accessories and Talisman roses. The dress of Miss Nigro was powder blue, and she had selected navy blue accessories.

THREE-TIERED CAKE

Centring the bride's table, which was laid with a hand-made white lace tablecloth, was the three-tiered cake surrounded by pink tulle. Additional appointments were a circle of crystal and candles, and spring flowers. The flowers and candles were in rose, yellow, mauve and green.

Mrs. Peter Batter, Mrs. Neil McDermott, Mrs. Frank Ford, and Mrs. Guy Kirby poured at the breakfast, while serving were Miss Margaret Kirby, Miss Mona Jean McDermott, Mrs. James Anselmo and Mrs. Charles Gray.

Leaving for a two-weeks honeymoon at the West Coast, the bride wore a brown corduroy coat over a brown dressmaker suit trimmed with velvet bows. Her shoes and veiled hat were brown, and her gloves, gold. Talisman roses formed her corsage.

The bride attended St. Joseph's convent in Red Deer, while the bridegroom was graduated from the University of Western Ontario, and received his law degree in the 1943 class at the University of Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Nigro will live for a short time in Edmonton.

Alberta Nurses Meet in South: Grant Available for Trainees

A DOMINION-PROVINCIAL grant amounting to $100 now is available to girls of 18 or more who are interested in nursing as a vocation, but are unable to finance the three years of training, it was revealed at the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses held in the Palliser hotel, Calgary, on April 26.

Mrs. A. E. Vango, secretary-treasurer, explained that $50 of this grant would be paid prior to entering hospital in order to cover initial expenses, and the remainder of the money would be paid upon successful completion of the preliminary term.

NEW PRESIDENT

Miss Ida Johnson, Edmonton, was elected president of the association, and other officers are: first vice-president, Miss Barbara A. Beattie, Ponoka; second vice-president, Miss Helen G. McArthur, Edmonton; and councillor, Sister Alice Herman, Calgary. The chairmen of sections who will continue in their positions for another year are: hospital and school nursing, Miss Gena Bamforth, Edmonton; public health, Miss Jean S. Clark, Calgary; and general nursing, Miss Gertrude Thorne, Calgary.

During the morning session of the convention, it was recommended that, in districts operating nurses' registries, there should be a rotating system whereby nurses would be sent to country hospitals for certain periods before returning to private duty. This was suggested as a part solution to the problem of shortage of nurses now existing in rural hospitals.

RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

As part of a recruiting campaign for student nurses, 63 schools have been visited, Miss M. S. Fraser, chairman of publicity committee, said. Those visiting the schools were Miss Jean Davidson, instructor at the Medicine Hat General Hospital; Miss Jean S. Clark of the Calgary health department, and Miss Bamforth, instructor at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton. It was voted to continue an extensive recruiting campaign this year, plans to be made by the executive.

Miss McArthur, director of the summer school course for graduate nurses to be conducted at the University of Alberta from May 20 to July 31, expressed satisfaction at the interest taken in the course, which is provided from federal funds granted to the association.

Miss McArthur also told delegates about health insurance and the work that has been done in preparing and submitting recommendations to the federal government to promote legislation that will safeguard nursing rights.

Additional reports were given by district representatives, Miss Nessa Leckie, Ponoka; Miss E. Kathleen Connor, Calgary; Miss M. J. B. Lees, Medicine Hat; Mrs. June Butterwick, Drumheller; Miss Emily Milner, Red Deer; Miss McArthur; and Miss Ann Kostiuk, Lethbridge.

Presiding at the meeting was Miss Rae Chittick.

Bowen delivered the convocation address. Dr. J. A. Lobsinger acted as chairman and Dr. A. Somerville spoke briefly.

The award for courtesy and co-operation was won by Miss Dorothy Bjorgun. Class Valedictorian was Miss Margaret Stewart of Stettler.

Student nurses of the hospital attended the graduation in their blue and white uniforms and were later entertained with a musical program. Reginald Jaka played the processional and recessional marches.

New Sub Strategy

Canada, Britain to Share Mile-by-Mile Protection Of Atlantic Convoy Route

By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP)—A streamlined, mile-by-mile protection of the North Atlantic convoy route to the United Kingdom was announced yesterday, with Canada and Great Britain sharing the responsibility.

A joint statement by Navy Minister Macdonald and Air Minister Power outlined new convoy plans by which the Canadian and British navies, with air co-operation, propose to protect "every mile of the route from North America to Europe."

With this new attack upon the U-boat problem left entirely in the hands of the two empire forces, the United States, while co-operating with ships and aircraft, will retain "strategic responsibility" for the Western Atlantic, including escort operations for non-British convoys.

CANADIAN, BRITISH TASK

This was taken to mean that while the trade convoy route across the North Atlantic would be a joint Canadian-British responsibility, the United States would direct any strategic operations necessitated by enemy naval thrusts in the Western Atlantic and by local American convoys.

Outcome of a recent conference in Washington between British, Canadian and American naval and air authorities, the new anti-submarine plan includes the following features:

1—Canada and Great Britain have assumed complete charge of trade convoys from northwest Atlantic ports to the United Kingdom;

2—The United States retains "strategic responsibility" for the western Atlantic "including escort operations not related to British convoys and local Canadian traffic";

COMMANDER NAMED

3—Rear Admiral L. W. Murray, R.C.N., commanding officer, Atlantic coast, for the navy since September 1942, has been appointed commander-in-chief, Canadian northwest Atlantic — abbreviated "C-in-C., C.N.A.";

4—Air Vice-Marshal George Johnson, air officer commander-in-chief of eastern air command, will direct anti-submarine operations of new, long-range Canadian and American machines patrolling to mid-Atlantic;

5—British bombers will take over in mid-Atlantic, thus establishing an air "umbrella" over the entire Atlantic route, co-operating with naval escorts;

6—A single naval control, like that exercised by Rear Admiral Murray, will be operated by the Royal Navy, with air co-operation, covering the western approaches to Europe.

GREATER EFFICIENCY

Canadian naval units, which have already carried a large share of the Atlantic escort burden, will have little change in their duties but the intention is, the ministers said, that their efforts will be more efficiently applied and there are more of them available now for this work.

United States escort vessels will continue to share in the task, under direction of Rear Admiral Murray, and United States air units stationed in Newfoundland will continue to carry on their anti-submarine tasks under direction of Air Vice-Marshal Johnson.

Dusk attacks by powerful, stalking U-boats have been most dangerous to convoys. The ministers expressed belief that the new and continuous air patrol will render this form of hunting less successful.

Support Slackens On Grain Market

WINNIPEG, May 1—(CP)—United States support slackened toward the end of the session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and wheat prices dropped back from early advances to close ⅛ cent above the previous close. The May future finished at $1.00½ a bushel, the July at $1.01 and the October at $1.01¼.

American houses were credited with the bulk of the buying while mills, shippers and local interests also made substantial purchases.

Sale of a cargo of No. 2 Northern wheat to the United Kingdom was confirmed. A small volume of Canadian flour also sold for export to the United Kingdom. The total wheat and flour sales were estimated at less than 500,000 bushels.

In the cash market a round lot of No. 2 Northern wheat sold eastern interests. No coarse grain cash dealings were reported.

No trades in oats or barley futures were transacted but American and shipper buying sent both July and October rye to 82 cents a bushel, the highest price quoted for any rye future since March, 1938.

Grain inspections at Winnipeg yesterday totalled 203 cars compared with 499 cars last year. Country marketings amounted to 825,000 bushels against 219,000 a year ago.

Reserve Army Men Are Liable To Active Call

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP)—Defence headquarters last night announced that privates and non-commissioned officers of the Canadian (Reserve) army are subject to call for active service if they hold a rank below that of warrant officer (second class) and are found eligible for active service. A defence department spokesman said the ruling applied to all men liable for military service under existing call-up regulations.

This means it applies to single men and to men divorced or judicially separated and childless widowers between the ages of 19 and 40 years inclusive, and to married men between the ages of 19 and 25 inclusive.

Men called for active service under this ruling would be liable for service in Canada only, the spokesman said, in the same way as men called up from civilian life.

Men joining the reserve army are liable for service in Canada only, but they may volunteer for active service anywhere and transfer to the active army. A large number of former members of the reserve army have already done so.

Defence headquarters said the order is not expected to affect a large number of non-commissioned officers now in the reserve army, as most of those eligible for active service and not employed in essential industries have already enlisted.

Previously only men in the reserve army up to and including the rank of corporal were liable to call for active service.

Refuse to Accept Adverse Ruling

Refusing to accept an adverse ruling by the Regional War Labor board members of the Packing Plant Employees Union, No. [illegible] started taking a strike vote in packing plants here Saturday. The vote will be continued throughout the day and will be counted on Sunday.

J. Wallin, business agent for the union, stated that the "Packing plant employees had been shocked with the adverse decision rendered by the board on their application for wage increases."

Between 1,600 and 1,800 packing plant employees will cast their ballots during the week-end at the union's offices, Canada Permanent building.

Mr. Wallin said that an appeal against the Regional board's decision would be taken to the National War Labor board at Ottawa. He said he was not prepared to disclose the Regional board's reasons for its adverse ruling. It was more or less technical, he said.

W. D. King, deputy chairman of the Regional board, had no statement to make on the board's decision.

Early Chicago Gains Are Lost

CHICAGO, May 1—(AP)—Wheat prices advanced as much as a cent at one time today, influenced by unfavorable crop reports from the southwest, but most of the gain was erased in later trading. Rye rose as much as 2 cents early, but later eased with the bread cereal.

Wheat drew support from the fact that loans on 1942 warehouse stored grain matured yesterday, thereby ending the threat of redemptions and open market sale of such grain. It was believed the government came into possession of about 150,000,000 bushels of wheat.

At the close wheat was ⅛-¼ higher, corn was unchanged at ceilings, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher and rye was up 1-1⅛.

Wheat: May 144⅛-¼; July 143⅞; Sept 144¼; Dec 146⅛-1.46.

Corn: May 1.05, July 1.05, Sept 1.05, Dec 1.01.

Oats: May 63⅜-½; July 61¼; Sept 30¼; Dec 62⅛.

Rye: May 86⅛-¼; July 89; Sept 91⅛; Dec 94.

Complete Co-Operation All Residents Necessary In Prevention of Fires

Never in this city's history has there been greater need for the fullest co-operation of every citizen in the city's fire prevention clean-up campaign which starts on Monday and continues throughout the week.

GARDEN
V FOR VICTORY

Canada is at war and Edmonton is an important link in the United States-Canadian war effort. Through the city's railway terminals quantities of war supplies flow daily, and should the Japanese determine to strike at Canada and the United States by air it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that Edmonton will be one of the targets selected.

The city must be prepared for such an attack. Air raid precautions have been established in the city. Air raid wardens have been appointed and the most elaborate plans made for the combating of any enemy attack.

In these plans the citizens are asked to co-operate, and one of the most vital acts in this co-operation is to thoroughly clean up and keep clean all yards, garages, and other buildings.

CAN HELP

The home-owners can do much to help by cleaning up their home yards, but they are also able to strike a blow at Hitler and the other world gangsters by bringing all the scrap materials they find in that final clean-up to the local salvage committee.

Property owners defend their homes against the elements by careful painting and other repair work. They should be prepared to defend these homes against Japanese incendiary bombs. The way to prepare for this emergency is to remove all rubbish from the attic, the basement and the yard, and to contact the local Air Raid Precautions oragnization for instruction as to duties which can be undertaken should Edmonton be attacked from the air.

OTHER REASONS

Further reasons why every citizen should join in the fire prevention clean-up campaign are that the annual clean-up of yards and buildings are ordinary decent safeguards that pay large dividends, it promotes civic pride, thrift, makes the home and city beautiful, intensifies fire protection and helps in the nation's war effort.

Home-owners are warned that they should secure a permit from the nearest fire hall before burning rubbish on their lots. These permits are issued free, and with them are instructions regarding the setting of these fires and the best manner in which to keep them under control.

Chimneys, stove and furnace pipes should be cleaned and householders should take precaution to see that birds do not nest in chimneys and vents.

Electric wiring should be checked for bare spots which might permit short circuiting. Stoves should not be placed too near walls and protection should be placed beneath them.

"Most fires are the result of somebody's carelessness," stated Fire Chief James Macgregor, as he appealed to Edmontonians to make a determined effort this year to give the city from heart to outer fringe a thorough clean-up.

He said the time to clean-up is now, and he asked that home-owners do all possible to make Edmonton the cleanest city in the west.

King Congratulates New Liberal Chief

OTTAWA, May 1—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night sent a telegram to Harry Nixon, congratulating him on his election as leader of the Liberal party in Ontario at the provincial convention in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. King said the election showed Ontario Liberals appreciated Mr. Nixon's "Steadfast advocacy of the principles of responsible government" and the new leader's "Desire to effect the closest co-operation on the part of the government of Ontario with the government at Ottawa in its administration of the country's affairs at this time of war."

The prime minister also sent telegrams to Harry Hamilton, congratulating him on his election as president of the Ontario Liberal Association; to Arthur Roebuck, M.P. for Toronto-Trinity, for his part in making election of Mr. Nixon unanimous, and to Premier Gordon Conant, expressing sympathy in Mr. Conant's illness and a wish for his speedy recovery.

Deny Living Cost In U.S. Outstrips Salary Increases

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown, declaring it is not true that living costs in the United States have outstripped wage increases, promised last night to "extend price control across the board, to every important commodity" and to roll back all prices that have got out of hand.

Speaking on the eve of a shutdown in the eastern coal fields, Brown declared:

"I recognize how strong are the claims of the coal miners . . . but I can not say too strongly that the coal miners can not better their position in a race between wages and the cost of living."

People of France Ready For Revolt

By ROBERT RICHARDS

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, May 1. — Pierre Vienot, former French undersecretary for foreign affairs, today predicted a French uprising when an Allied army invades the continent and said the people are ready to throw out the Vichy government.

Marshal Henri Philippe Petain is "finished," said Vienot, who escaped recently from France, and hundreds of youths are hiding in the Haute-Savoie awaiting the day to break out in support of an Allied effort to expel the Nazis.

"During the first year Petain acted as an important camouflage so Pierre Laval's policies could be carried out, but that is over now," he said. "The French people no longer believe in him or Vichy."

Vienot escaped to North Africa when France capitulated but was imprisoned there and later sentenced to 88 years at hard labor by a military court. The sentence was suspended after four months because of his military record.

Alberta: M. Fedoruk and A. R. Smith, both of Edmonton; A. Friesen, Irma; F. B. Murphy, Cowley.

Cattle Markets Strong in West

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP)—The Dominion Department of Agriculture said yesterday in its weekly livestock market review that steady to strong prices prevailed on cattle markets during the past week, with western centres especially strong under the influence of sharply reduced offerings and the further advance to ceiling prices for beef.

"The result was that nearly all of last week's price losses were regained," the department said. "Winnipeg was 50 cents or more higher and other markets followed a similar trend.

"The calf market was a mixed affair with Toronto losing 50 cents, Montreal gaining 25 cents and western markets steady to firm.

"There was no change in the price level on hogs, sheep or lambs."

MONTADORES
CHAPTER XVI

HIS fever had once more miraculously disappeared during the night. Barry woke to the golden fragrance of a tropic morning feeling weak but clear-headed. He lay listening to the loud chatter of macaws, parrots and the thousand and one varieties of birds that flashed their bright hues about the estancia.

"Good morning, lazy bones!"

Allison was in his doorway. There was a bright light of eagerness in her as she carried in his tray, laughter in her voice. She spread his napkin for him and touched her small hand lightly to his forehead.

"You're fine," she said with malicious joy. "No excuse for not coming out and helping initiate my zoot caps."

"What are you talking about?" Barry frowned as he drank his pineapple juice. She stood beside him laughing, her golden hair a ragged auriole about her heart-shaped face whose whiteness had now disappeared under a honey tan.

"Meet me out in the clearing and you'll see," she taunted.

Barry drank his coffee and ate the two eggs with relish this morning. He felt stronger than he had for a long time and a surge of fresh hope went through him. Maybe he had thrown the fever for a real loss this time. He got up and put on the clothes laid out for him and went out of the estancia.

It was a large thatched house on stilts with a broad veranda, from which could be seen the half dozen smaller shacks of the chicleros and the wide clearing that surrounded the massed estancias. On every side crouched the vibrant green and lush jungle waiting to devour the puny resistance of man's efforts against it.

Barry made his way unsteadily down the broad steps of the estancia and crossed the sun-washed, muddy clearing toward the boiling kettles. Allison sauntered to meet him.

"The montadores came in this morning," she reported breathlessly.

"Montadores?" Barry puzzled.

Her eyes twinkled with mischief "Montadores are our chicle scouts, tenderfoot."

"Yes, my calloused chiclero," Barry retorted meekly.

"You see," she explained. "It's very naughty of them, but zapote trees don't grow all in one place. They go just where they please to live their lives."

"Like you," jeered Barry.

"Like me," she laughed. "So we have to send out montadores to cut trails to the new grove. Rough boys, aren't they?"

She and Barry joined the two montadores who stood in the sun near the boiling kettles giving their report to Renaldo. They were powerful, ugly-looking natives, looking more like exhausted, filthy animals than men after their long, grueling tussle with the jungle.

Renaldo turned to greet Barry with a smile. "Sounds like we've got a fair-sized grove from what they say," he said, his voice ringing with satisfaction.

"Isn't it thrilling?" Allison cried. "To just go out and discover your orchard?"

"Thrilling maybe, but tough," mused Barry as the two montadores, now dismissed, moved heavily off toward their estancias. His gaze returned to the girl beside him. Her violet eyes were wide and shining.

"That's it," she was whispering. "That's the jungle. Thrilling—and tough. You can scream your head off, but you can't faze it. You have to fight every minute for your life."

Barry's mouth dropped open in amazement. "Why, you scrappy little varmint," he said.

Renaldo laughed, but the look he turned on Allison was pure devotion. "She understands the jungle," he said.

Allison caught Barry's arm with sudden change of mood. "Come on," she cried jubilantly. "You're going to see my zoot caps." She walked quickly down the wide trail striped with yellow sunlight and deep shadow that led to the closest group of zapote trees. But, though she chattered gaily, Barry noted her hand rested lightly on the small gun in the holster slung about her slender hips, and her eyes kept alertly on the path ahead.

She broke off to answer his unspoken question. "Bushmasters," she said shortly. "Renaldo says they're the meanest snakes in the jungle. They'll find a path that's used often and lie in wait all day for a victim."

"I know," Barry agreed. "But you mean you've learned to shoot that gun already?"

"You can learn fast when you have to," she laughed.

They had come to the group of zapote trees and stopped to watch the native chiclero slashing a zig-zag gash down the length of the zapote trunk. Barry found he was seething with sudden anger over the girl's statements.

"Look here," he protested, as she waited for the chiclero to descend, "you don't have to stay out here in the jungle."

She didn't answer, and he prodded, "Do you?"

She shrugged then and looked up at him, confusion and laughter both in her eyes. "You don't have to do anything," she murmured, "including live. But you find yourself in the midst of something you want to go on with for a while. I never know why. But it doesn't matter, does it? It keeps it all pretty fascinating." She broke off to point with excitement. "Now you can see the zoot cap."

The chiclero was almost at the foot of the tree. He wore sharp leg irons to dig in and hold himself upright against a rope looped around himself and the tree. He was naked except for loin cloth and a white hood with visor which tied under his chin. Barry suppressed a laugh at the startling combination.

"Is that bonnet supposed to be a thing of beauty?" he asked.

"Certainly not," snapped Allison. She called the natives to lower his head, and pointed triumphantly at stands on the visor. "Poison drippings from the compadre tree," she said. "Some of those drops might have gone in his eyes. Later on, I'm going to see if I can send for some goggles. Meanwhile," she added proudly, "the sides of the cap protect his ears from that nasty insect that lives in the top of the zapote tree."

The chiclero had reached the ground. Another Indian was hanging a canvas bag to a peg driven at the bottom of the zigzag gash, and the chicle was already flowing along the jagged cuts.

"Lady," said Barry, "you come right after the grand canyon. Now if you'd use a little of your ingenuity to make a little sense out of your own plans."

She brushed a bright tumble of hair back with the back of her hand and gave him an impish smile. "Don't worry about my plans, my fine-feathered friend," she murmured. "Just be on your guard." She turned sharply and started back through the muddy path toward the estancia, leaving Barry grinning helplessly after her.

Leaps From Window: Man Is In Hospital

Jumping from the second floor window of an Empire hotel room about 4 a.m. Saturday, Burt Sorenson suffered a severe cut on the top of his head. He was found by a city police patrol as he wandered about the street scantily dressed, and was rushed to Royal Alexandra hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a four-inch gash on the left side of the head, and cuts to the feet, presumably caused by broken glass.

Authorities were told that Sorenson, who had been at the hotel since March 3 last, had been under a doctor's care. Questioned as to why he had jumped out of the window, the injured man replied that he had because something was going to happen.

First Meeting Held

Reconstruction Committee Will Receive Submissions On Post-War Requirements

Written submissions from all groups interested are invited by the Alberta Post-War Reconstruction Committee, which held its first business meeting Wednesday.

Presumed Dead

Flt. Lt. John Sommerville Cardell, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville A. Cardell of 12920 Stony Plain Road, who was reported as "presumed dead" in a R.C.A.F. casualty list issued Saturday. He was 22 years old. He was posted as missing last September. Born at Kamloops, B.C., he lived here most of his life. He attended Victoria High school and later the University of Alberta, where he took courses in arts and commerce. He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in January, 1940, and received his wings at Camp Borden in September of that year. For more than a year he was an instructor at No. 3 S.F.T.S., Calgary.

The meeting, under chairmanship of Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, was attended by Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry; Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta; A. J. Hooke, M.L.A., chairman of the Social Credit Board; Mrs. C. R. Wood, M.L.A.; A. Speakman, M.L.A., and E. J. Martin, M.L.A.

It was announced an office will be opened Monday by the committee, in the legislative buildings. The office will be under direction of H. D. Carrigan, assistant director of the government publicity and travel bureau. Mr. Carrigan has been given leave of absence from his duties to assume the post of secretary-treasurer of the committee, on a temporary basis.

PURPOSE OF GROUP

The committee is established under provision of the Post-War Reconstruction Act, passed at the 1943 session of the legislature, composed of members from both sides of the house, it is empowered to investigate and report on post-war rehabilitation matters. Hon. E. C. Manning has been named acting chairman of the committee, and will act in the absence of Mr. Tanner.

At the first meeting it was decided work would fall into two general divisions, a study of conditions so as to make recommendations regarding immediate action in the interests of reconstruction and rehabilitation, and secondly, a longe-range policy which would consider the general economy of the province.

Under the first division, the committee will survey the province's resources with the co-operation of industries agriculture, employers and employees, municipal bodies and others directly concerned. Special attention will be paid to rehabilitation of men and women of the fighting forces.

SECOND DIVISION

Under the second division, investigations and recommendations will be made relative to the transition of wartime industry to peacetime conditions, agricultural lands, internal and external markets, transportation and communication facilities and public utilities.

The Act pased by the legislature empowers the committee to consult and co-operate with both Dominion and provincial authorities, organizations and persons for the purpose of furthering the post-war reconstruction program.

Upon a recommendation made by A. Speakman, the committee will seek immediate information regarding the number of service men and women and war workers likely to need rehabilitation on the cessation of hostilities, and also to gather information regarding agricultural lands through co-operation with Dominion and other authorities, with a view to discussing these matters at the next meeting of the committee called for June 10.

At this June 10 meeting, ten days of study will be given the question by committee members, who will again convene June 21 for a third meeting.

It was decided at the Wednesday meeting to keep the size of the committee small, with a broad policy of establishing sub-committees as they are needed.

SUBMISSIONS INVITED

"The committee is now ready to receive written submissions from interested groups and organizations, and these should be addressed to me through the Post-War Reconstruction Committee, Legislative Buildings, Edmonton," Mr. Carrigan announced.

He added that only written submissions should be submitted at this time. As the work of the committee progresses, an opportunity will be given to groups and individuals for hearings.

a gray-looking day, which probably accounted for the gray outlook of one of the patrons, who was having his long, wavy locks trimmed up a bit.

Gazing sorrowfully out the window, he observed:

"What a country! What a country! Here it is April and still winter!"

He shook his head, while the skilful barber missed taking off an ear by a fraction of an inch.

Another sad shake of the head and he continued:

"The heaviest fall of snow in 35 years. The coldest weather in 35 years. You can't get on a street car, let alone get a seat. You can't get a room in a hotel. You can't get served in a cafe for a half hour. It's getting so you can't get a glass of beer. Then on top of all this we have the Americans."

The barber saved the second ear with another skilful manoeuvre, as his customer started another mournful shake of the head. Gazing out into what was now a first-class snowstorm, our prize pessimist declared with truly awe-inspiring solemnity:

"The Americans! That was the final payoff!"

Canadians realize that Canada must be saved from the fate of Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and France, that freedom is dearer than life itself, and this cannot be done unless our brave young men at the front, on land, in the skies and on the sea, are backed by our all in their attack.

The way to do that is Buy Victory Bonds—lend all you can to help towards the objective of $1,100,000,000.

Little Orphan Annie
AS A RESULT OF THE TERRIFIC EXPLOSIONS OF THE TWO U-BOATS, WHICH AWAKENED AND MYSTIFIED THE GOOD PEOPLE OF RIVERSIDE, THE CASTLE HAS BECOME AN OBJECT OF INTEREST TO THE SECRET SERVICE-
AS THE OLD SAYING HAS IT, A GARROTE IS BETTER THAN A GUN! ALL THAT NOISE WAS BOUND TO BRING THE SECRET SERVICE-
BUT, BIG GEORGE-- WE'RE ALL ON THE SAME SIDE- WHY SHOULDN'T WE WELCOME THEIR COOPERATION?
THE WAY TO KEEP A SECRET IS TO KEEP IT! ONCE THE AXIS SUSPECTS WHAT WE ARE UP TO, WE WILL CEASE TO DRAW THEIR U-BOATS TO OUR TRAP-
OF COURSE- BUT NO SPY CAN LEARN ANYTHING FROM OUR SECRET SERVICE-
PERHAPS HERE THEY ARE MORE SPY PROOF THAN IN THE OLD WORLD--AT ANY RATE, I PRESUME WE HAVE NO CHOICE, BUT TO LET THEM SHARE OUR SECRET-
EXACTLY- ANNIE, WHERE ARE THOSE SECRET SERVICE MEN NOW?
ALL OVER TH' PLACE---PLAYIN' THEY'RE FISHERMEN---READIN' METERS IN TH' VILLAGE--- PLAYIN' TRUCK DRIVER, AN' BREAKIN' DOWN, SO THEY CAN GAB AN' ASK QUESTIONS AROUND TH' GARAGE---
HM-M---YOU JUNIOR COMMANDOS ARE PRETTY HARD TO FOOL- DO YOU SUSPECT EVERY STRANGER?
NOPE-- BUT ANY KID CAN SPOT A COP A MILE AWAY--THEY'RE O.K., O' COURSE-
WELL, COLONEL ANNIE- YOU SEND OUT THE WORD FOR ALL OF THOSE SECRET SERVICE MEN TO COME IN HERE OUT OF THE RAIN---
YES, SIR, UNCLE MALCOLM- RIGHT AWAY!
WHUP?
EH?
IT'S O.K., YOU DETECTIVES! YOU CAN COME INTO TH' CASTLE NOW! JUNIOR COMMANDO ORDERS! FOLLOW ME!
YI!
WHERE DID YOU COME FROM?
YOU TWO COPS ARE TO COME INTO TH' CASTLE NOW--JUNIOR COMMANDO ORDERS- JUST FOLLOW ME-
HA! THOSE KIDS SURE ROUNDED THEM UP IN A HURRY--HERE THEY ALL COME--AH, GLAD TO SEE YOU, GENTLEMEN---
YOU ARE UNDER ARREST--OPERATING AN UNLICENSED SHORT WAVE RADIO--COMMUNICATING WITH THE ENEMY---PUT THE CUFFS ON HIM!
BUT WAIT A SECOND--- THERE'S A LOT YOU DON'T KNOW--LET ME EXPLAIN--
WHAT WE DON'T KNOW, WE'LL FIND OUT, MISTER! WE DON'T NEED YOUR EXPLANATIONS---ROUND UP THOSE KIDS, TOO- NOW, TO SEARCH THIS PLACE--EVERY INCH!
(WHERE'S BIG GEORGE? EH? HE'S GONE--SO IS ANNIE--OH-- --ER--HM-M---)

WHAT DO YOU WANT WITH ME?
TUNER, WHEN I WAS IN THE DOVE A FEW DAYS AGO AND SAW YOU THERE TUNING THE PIANO, I MANAGED TO TAKE THIS GRINDING WHEEL FROM YOUR GRIP WITHOUT YOUR KNOWING IT.
WE MADE LABORATORY TESTS OF THE METAL PARTICLES ON THE WHEEL—AND WE MADE AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY!
THIS IS THE GRINDING WHEEL THAT GROUND DOWN THE STEAK KNIFE THAT KILLED A. B. HELMET.
I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT— I DON'T KNOW NOTHIN—H'M!
FURTHERMORE, YOU'RE PRETTY CLOSE TO THIS 88 KEYES, THE ORCHESTRA LEADER, AREN'T YOU? THE OWNER OF CLUB JOY SAYS 88 WON'T LET ANYONE TOUCH HIS PIANO BUT YOU!
SURE! I'M A GOOD PIANO TUNER. AND 88 PAYS ME WELL TO GIVE HIM EXTRA SERVICE. BESIDES, I-LOCK HIM UP, PAT.
ER, ONE MORE THING. DID YOU KNOW THAT MRS. HELMET WAS ONCE IN LOVE WITH A PIANO PLAYER BY THE NAME OF KEYES WHEN BOTH OF THEM WERE IN A MUSICAL SHOW IN '36?
UH?
MEANWHILE, LET US LOOK IN ON THE RECENTLY WIDOWED MRS. HELMET—
BUT, DARLING, I'VE GOT TO SEE YOU SOON. CAN'T WE MEET TODAY OR TOMORROW?
HONEY, I DON'T DARE! THE OTHER TWO ARE GOING TO GET SUSPICIOUS. ALL THEY GOT OUT OF THIS DEAL WAS A GRAND. THEY DON'T KNOW—
OH 88, WE'VE GOT REAL MONEY NOW! I'VE WAITED FOR YOU ALL THESE YEARS BUT I CAN WAIT A LITTLE LONGER.
UH?—JINNY! YOU'RE EARLY, AREN'T YOU? I-I SAID TO MEET ME FOR REHEARSAL AT THREE!
YOU—YOU ARE EARLY, AREN'T YOU?
WHY, YOU LOW DOUBLE-CROSSER! I SING FOR YOU? I MAKE YOU FAMOUS WITH MY ORCHESTRATIONS. I EVEN CONNIVE TO MURDER FOR MONEY WITH YOU AND THEN—
JUST WAIT TILL I CALL TUNER—
EEE—
